Your guide to the weekend

Both full cards, with different levels of evidence

All 14 Grade 1 championships receive race analysis, historical context, a win selection, a separate each-way selection and a note on every listed runner, reserve and withdrawal. The eight supporting races include every listed entrant, connection details and shorter entry-based tactical notes. Detailed supporting-race recent form has not been independently verified.

The prices are bet365 prices

Championship odds come from the bet365 column on Oddschecker's Breeders' Cup ante-post markets. They are not the comparison site's best price across firms, US morning lines or tote odds. The captured markets show three places at one-fifth odds. Confirm the live market, runner status and terms with bet365 before betting. [3]

Order and notation

Championship runners are sorted by bet365 odds, shortest first. Equal prices use stall order. Reserves follow the initial field and are sorted separately; a displayed reserve price does not guarantee a run. N/Q means no verified bet365 quote. Supporting fields therefore remain in programme order. NR means non-runner.

What the numbers mean

Finding your section

The programmes come next, followed by the course, local bias, connections and history. Friday's five supporting races lead into its five championships; Saturday follows the same sequence with three supporting races and nine championships. The selection sheet and our final four finish the guide. The PDF bookmarks provide direct access.

Analysis and selections are editorial judgements. Historical strike rates describe their stated samples; they are not forecasts or evidence of guaranteed value.

02 / FRIDAY 30 OCTOBER

Future Stars Friday

All times UK GMT. Kentucky is four hours behind London on both race days. The first race is 15:55 GMT, not 04:00. [1, 4]

UK	Kentucky ET	Race	Trip / surface
15:55	11:55	Allowance optional claiming	1m 1/16 dirt
16:30	12:30	Maiden special weight	7f dirt
17:05	13:05	Juvenile turf stakes	1m turf
17:40	13:40	Allowance	6.5f dirt
18:15	14:15	Allowance optional claiming	7f dirt
18:55	14:55	Juvenile Turf Sprint	5.5f turf
19:35	15:35	Juvenile Fillies	1m 1/16 dirt
20:15	16:15	Juvenile Fillies Turf	1m turf
20:55	16:55	Juvenile	1m 1/16 dirt
21:35	17:35	Juvenile Turf	1m turf

Five championships, all for two-year-olds

The first championship is the Juvenile Turf Sprint at 18:55; the Juvenile Turf closes the card at 21:35. Two dirt routes sit among three turf races. Do not treat an impressive straight-course European performance as proof of turning-track experience, or a sprint win as proof of route stamina.

Coverage: Sky Sports Racing advertises both days live. ITV4 lists Friday 18:30-22:00. Check the broadcaster's final listings. Scheduled post times can move. [10, 13]

03 / SATURDAY 31 OCTOBER

Championship Saturday

All times UK GMT. Nine championships begin at 17:10; the Classic is scheduled for 22:16. [1, 2, 4]

UK	Kentucky ET	Race	Trip / surface
15:15	11:15	Maiden special weight	7f dirt
15:50	11:50	Allowance optional claiming	7f dirt
16:25	12:25	Allowance optional claiming	6.5f dirt
17:10	13:10	Filly & Mare Sprint	7f dirt
17:48	13:48	Turf Sprint	5.5f turf
18:26	14:26	Dirt Mile	1m dirt
19:04	15:04	Filly & Mare Turf	1m 3/16 turf
19:42	15:42	Sprint	6f dirt
20:20	16:20	Mile	1m turf
20:58	16:58	Distaff	1m 1/8 dirt
21:36	17:36	Turf	1m 1/2 turf
22:16	18:16	Classic	1m 1/4 dirt

The championship programme totals $30m: seven dirt and seven turf races across the weekend. The Classic carries $7m and the Turf $5m. Most championships allow fourteen starters; the Juvenile Turf Sprint and Dirt Mile are capped at twelve. [1]

ITV lists Saturday coverage from 20:00 to 22:45, which covers the final four championships. Sky Sports Racing advertises coverage of both days. Recheck final listings and late race-time changes. [10, 13]

04 / THE COURSE

Two surfaces, different demands

A turning test in Lexington, Kentucky

Keeneland's main dirt oval measures one mile and one sixteenth; the inner turf circuit is seven and a half furlongs. Runners race left-handed. Ground saved around bends can matter, but an inside berth can also bring traffic and kickback. A wide stall is a cost to assess, not an automatic elimination. [12]

Configuration	What it changes
Dirt mile and 1m 1/16	Use the alternate first wire. The finish comes before the main wire, so waiting too long can be costly.
Six and seven furlongs	Sprint pace must be sustained. Seven furlongs offers more time to organise but demands additional stamina.
Turf sprints: 5.5f	Half a furlong longer than Del Mar in 2025; turning position and finishing strength both matter.
Turf mile	Two turns: settling, cover and room to accelerate are central.
Filly & Mare Turf: 9.5f	Shorter than last year's 11f. Greater emphasis on position and acceleration.
Turf: 12f / Classic: 10f	Relaxation and stamina under pressure, on different surfaces and with different pace demands.

Who does the venue suit?

On dirt, look for a horse that can hold a useful position without an extended duel, tolerate kickback and maintain its action when challenged. On turf, balance around bends, the ability to settle and a change of pace are valuable. Those are course-fit judgements, not numerical filters that override the quality of the horse.

This is Keeneland's fourth Breeders' Cup after 2015, 2020 and 2022. Last year's Del Mar results remain valuable form, but the different sprint and Filly & Mare Turf distances require a fresh assessment. [1, 12]

05 / COURSE STATISTICS

What this meet has shown

BRISnet Keeneland At a Glance, published 26 October. Meet sample: 2-24 October 2026. Wire = led throughout. [6]

Race type	Races	Wire wins	Reported leading style / posts
Dirt 6f	35	29%	Early speed / rail
Dirt 6.5f	13	38%	Early speed / outside
Dirt 1m 1/16	41	15%	Early speed / rail-inside
Dirt 1m 1/8	6	50%	Early speed / outside
Turf sprints	9	22%	Closers / inside
Turf routes	25	24%	Early speed / rail

Useful evidence, with limits

The six-race nine-furlong dirt sample is fragile. The latest-week pattern also differs from the full meet: none of fourteen 1m 1/16 dirt races were won wire to wire during 18-24 October, while three of four nine-furlong races were. A single instruction to back all front-runners would miss those differences.

Our practical reading

Give position and ground loss a place in the analysis, then ask how strongly the horse had to work to obtain them. A horse stalking an easy leader and a horse chasing a damaging gallop may occupy similar positions but face very different finishing demands. The field's pace is more useful than the label alone.

Conditions remain a live variable

No final race-day going assumption is built into these selections. Recheck the official turf and dirt descriptions, rainfall and maintenance near post time. Wet dirt and softer turf are separate questions; success on one does not establish aptitude for the other. Friday's racing can help interpret Saturday only if conditions remain comparable.

BRISnet reports favourites winning 32% and reaching the first three 64% in the displayed meet summary. Those are local descriptive figures, not the chance of any selected championship favourite.

06 / THE CONNECTIONS

Keeneland trainers and jockeys

Keeneland's published performance record as of 24 October 2026. Starts/wins; win rates calculated. The page does not identify its opening date, so these are the published snapshot, not lifetime records. [5]

Trainer	All: starts/wins	Win %	Dirt	Turf
Steve Asmussen	57/12	21.1%	51/10	6/2
Brendan Walsh	54/11	20.4%	28/7	26/4
Wesley Ward	38/10	26.3%	20/6	18/4
Joe Sharp	54/9	16.7%	41/5	13/4
Kenny McPeck	29/6	20.7%	21/5	8/1
Mike Maker	22/6	27.3%	8/2	14/4
Mark Casse	35/5	14.3%	20/1	15/4
Chad Brown	22/5	22.7%	12/3	10/2

Jockey	All: starts/wins	Win %	Dirt	Turf
Tyler Gaffalione	101/22	21.8%	68/16	33/6
Luis Saez	113/21	18.6%	77/16	36/5
Jose Ortiz	105/18	17.1%	69/11	36/7
Flavien Prat	35/13	37.1%	20/10	15/3
John Velazquez	70/11	15.7%	36/6	34/5

Selected relevant connections only. Different opportunities and horse quality affect strike rates; small surface samples are especially unstable. Missing names are not zero-win records. Use these figures alongside the horse's race, draw and form.

07 / HISTORY AND TRENDS

Where the historical edge lies

European-trained means trainer based in Britain, Ireland or France in StableBet's 2016-25 count. Breeding country is not the definition. [8]

Turf championship	European winners	Share
Turf	9/10	90%
Juvenile Turf	7/10	70%
Filly & Mare Turf	7/10	70%
Mile	6/10	60%
Juvenile Fillies Turf	3/10	30%
Juvenile Turf Sprint	3/8	37.5%
Turf Sprint	2/10	20%

The European case depends on the race

The longer turf race and juvenile colts' mile have favoured the visitors much more than the open Turf Sprint. All seven turf divisions together produced 37 European-trained winners from 68 races. That is a direction for research, not a price-sensitive betting system. Eight Juvenile Turf Sprint editions make that sample smaller.

Trainer and rider records worth understanding

Aidan O'Brien has eight Juvenile Turf wins and seven Turf wins. Charlie Appleby and William Buick have won four of the last five Miles. Chad Brown has six Juvenile Fillies Turf wins from 22 runners. Those records are relevant to the respective divisions; they should not be applied as one universal stable strike rate. [10]

Avoid turning a trend into a rule

Historical favourite figures on the race pages use ATR's local US tote sample: 2007-25, or the full shorter history of newer races. They are not bet365 starting-price results. Tracks, fields and surfaces changed during those samples. A high win rate does not establish profit, and a low rate does not prove that this year's favourite is overpriced.

Each race page also identifies its 2025 winner. The 2025 host was Del Mar; past champions listed for context are not automatically entered in 2026. [9, 10]

FRIDAY 30 OCTOBER / 15:55 GMT

Allowance optional claiming

1m 1/16 dirt | 3YO+ | $175,000 | Race 1 | [4]

The first supporting race is a route, with a mixed-age field and eligibility/claiming conditions. Saving ground matters, but the alternate finish for this distance means riders cannot wait for the main wire.

bet365: no quote available for this supporting market at the check. Listed in programme order. Notes use verified entries and tactical considerations; detailed recent form was not independently verified for these supporting fields.

Emerging Market N/Q

STALL 1 | J: F Prat | T: C C Brown

Prat can secure a ground-saving trip from the rail. Brown's runner needs room when the field quickens off the final bend.

Gould's Gold N/Q

STALL 3 | J: M Franco | T: K G McPeek

McPeek's runner has a useful inside-to-middle berth. Franco can conserve ground, with the final bend the likely tactical pressure point.

Admiral Dennis N/Q

STALL 5 | J: J Alvarado | T: B H Cox

Cox and Alvarado form a credible partnership. A middle draw gives options, provided he can settle without being caught wide.

Special Session N/Q

STALL 7 | J: J L Ortiz | T: M E Casse

Ortiz can look for cover from the outer half. Casse's runner needs to avoid conceding both ground and early position.

Stowaway N/Q

STALL 2 | J: J Loveberry | T: D Beckman

The low draw should help Loveberry obtain cover. Assess whether he can travel comfortably behind the younger rivals before committing.

Drake's Passage N/Q

STALL 4 | J: J Rosario | T: D Jacobson

An experienced older entrant with Rosario aboard. The task is to hold position economically when younger horses begin to accelerate.

Memory N/Q

STALL 6 | J: T Gaffalione | T: B P Walsh

Walsh and Gaffalione have had productive local figures. That is supporting context; he still needs an efficient route from stall six.

Azam N/Q

STALL 8 | J: L Saez | T: J F D'Angelo

Saez faces the outside berth in eight. Crossing too aggressively could be costly over the route; cover is the preferable outcome.

FRIDAY 30 OCTOBER / 16:30 GMT

Maiden special weight

7f dirt | 2YO fillies | $150,000 | Race 2 | [4]

An inexperienced field makes the break, kickback tolerance and settling important. Entries and connections can guide inspection, but they do not establish how much improvement each filly has available.

bet365: no quote available for this supporting market at the check. Listed in programme order. Notes use verified entries and tactical considerations; detailed recent form was not independently verified for these supporting fields.

Ohana Lulu N/Q

STALL 1 | J: J R Velazquez | T: B P Walsh

Velazquez can save ground from the rail. For an inexperienced filly, handling kickback and finding room may matter as much as position.

Golden Reveille N/Q

STALL 2 | J: K J Asmussen | T: S M Asmussen

Asmussen's strong local juvenile figures make her worth a look. Keith Asmussen has a low draw to help her find rhythm.

Honor Is Mine N/Q

STALL 3 | J: J L Ortiz | T: C DeVaux

DeVaux and Ortiz are an appealing combination. Draw three allows a straightforward trip if she breaks and settles cleanly.

Forgive Me N/Q

STALL 4 | J: M Franco | T: B P Walsh

The second Walsh filly has Franco aboard. A low-to-middle gate should help her conserve energy through the seven-furlong assignment.

At Full Sail N/Q

STALL 5 | J: G Corrales | T: D Stewart

Corrales rides for Stewart from a manageable middle position. Needs to show the professionalism required to sustain an effort through seven furlongs.

Niosa N/Q

STALL 6 | J: T Gaffalione | T: P D'Amato

Gaffalione rides D'Amato's filly from six. The opening furlong matters: an uncomplicated start would let her obtain cover and settle.

Maitresse N/Q

STALL 7 | J: F Prat | T: C DeVaux

Prat's judgement is a positive for this DeVaux filly. The middle-to-outer gate requires a measured decision about early position.

Holiday Pi N/Q

STALL 8 | J: L Saez | T: C Davis

Saez can help organise an inexperienced runner, but draw eight adds a possible ground-loss cost. Watch how readily she settles.

Groves N/Q

STALL 9 | J: J Alvarado | T: W I Mott

Alvarado rides for Mott from nine. The seven-furlong run gives time to organise, provided she does not expend too much early.

Maximum Capital N/Q

STALL 10 | J: A Concepcion | T: V H Oliver

Concepcion faces the outside stall. Oliver's filly needs a clean beginning and an economical route to avoid a difficult first assignment here.

FRIDAY 30 OCTOBER / 17:05 GMT

Juvenile turf stakes

1m turf | 2YO | $250,000 | Race 3 | [4]

The supporting juvenile mile has twelve initial runners and four also-eligibles. Cover through the bends and a clear final run matter. Fillies receive a lower assigned weight than the colts.

bet365: no quote available for this supporting market at the check. Listed in programme order. Notes use verified entries and tactical considerations; detailed recent form was not independently verified for these supporting fields.

Maxify N/Q

STALL 1 | J: F Prat | T: M W McCarthy

Prat can save ground from stall one. McCarthy's juvenile needs racing room at the decisive point in this turning turf mile.

Canada N/Q

STALL 2 | J: J Castellano | T: M E Casse

Castellano rides for Casse from a useful low berth. Settling and balance around both turns are the immediate practical requirements.

Real Goodbar N/Q

STALL 3 | J: E Esquivel | T: K G McPeck

McPeck's runner has Esquivel aboard and a favourable low-to-middle position. A clear late passage would maximise the benefit of saved ground.

Observed N/Q

STALL 4 | J: L Saez | T: J Thomas

Thomas and Saez have a workable draw in four. He needs to settle behind the early speed and keep his acceleration available.

Nuit d'Eclair N/Q

STALL 5 | J: D Egan | T: K Philippart De Foy

The filly receives a lower assigned weight than the colts. Egan must help her adapt to the turning mile without over-racing.

Majik Mooney N/Q

STALL 6 | J: J L Ortiz | T: J Sharp

Ortiz rides for Sharp from six. The middle draw gives a chance to obtain cover, rather than make a costly early commitment.

Oscar Cheer N/Q

STALL 7 | J: J R Velazquez | T: M E Casse

Velazquez is an experienced partner for Casse's juvenile. Draw seven is manageable if he can settle into a position before the bend.

Roscoe Goose N/Q

STALL 8 | J: K Carmouche | T: R Mott

Carmouche rides for Riley Mott from eight. A composed early phase would reduce the danger of being left wide around the turns.

FRIDAY 30 OCTOBER / 17:05 GMT

1m turf | 2YO | $250,000 | Race 3 | Runners continued. [4]

Dee's Funny Girl N/Q

STALL 9 | J: M Barzalona | T: D O'Brien

Barzalona rides the Donnacha O'Brien filly with a weight allowance against colts. She needs cover and a smooth transfer to the circuit.

Admiral's Order N/Q

STALL 11 | J: L Machado | T: B Colebrook

Machado rides for Colebrook from eleven. This juvenile needs an efficient early route to keep the wide berth from deciding the race.

Not for Long N/Q

RESERVE 13 | J: T Gaffalione | T: B P Walsh

Reserve. Walsh and Gaffalione are listed, but he needs a vacancy. Recheck the final draw and rider if admitted.

Okarito N/Q

RESERVE 15 | J: R Bejarano | T: E G Harty

Reserve. Harty's juvenile has Bejarano listed. Needs admission before any firm race assessment, with the actual gate still to be confirmed.

Coast Highway N/Q

STALL 10 | J: M Franco | T: H G Motion

Motion and Franco are an appealing turf combination. Draw ten increases the importance of settling without losing too much ground.

Mid American N/Q

STALL 12 | J: J A Torres | T: J P DiVito

Torres has the outside berth among the initial twelve. The key is finding cover without surrendering too much position.

That's Fire N/Q

RESERVE 14 | J: A Espinoza | T: R C Bryner

Reserve. Espinoza is provisionally aboard for Bryner. Participation comes first, then a reassessment of the final starting position and pace.

Up Before the Dawn N/Q

RESERVE 16 | J: U Rispoli | T: K Danner

Reserve. Rispoli rides the Danner filly if she gains entry. Her weight allowance is useful, but the final field must be checked.

FRIDAY 30 OCTOBER / 17:40 GMTAllowance

6.5f dirt | 3YO+ | $165,000 | Race 4 | [4]

A sprint restricted by winning conditions, not an unrestricted championship. Evaluate how easily each runner can secure position; a fast opening can turn six and a half furlongs into a stamina test.

bet365: no quote available for this supporting market at the check. Listed in programme order. Notes use verified entries and tactical considerations; detailed recent form was not independently verified for these supporting fields.

High Camp N/Q

STALL 1 | J: M Franco | T: W Walden

Franco can save ground from the rail. Walden's runner needs a sharp enough break to avoid being shuffled back behind the sprint pace.

Lincoln's Law N/Q

STALL 2 | J: A Concepcion | T: P A Bauer

Concepcion rides for Bauer from two. A low draw gives an economical option, with kickback tolerance and early rhythm important.

Bob's Carrot N/Q

STALL 3 | J: J A Torres | T: C Santamaria

Torres rides for Santamaria from three. He needs to hold a comfortable position without getting drawn into a damaging speed contest.

Ghazaaly N/Q

STALL 4 | J: T Gaffalione | T: D Jacobson

Gaffalione rides an older Jacobson entrant. Draw four allows options, but the emphasis remains on travelling efficiently against younger sprint rivals.

Send Cash N/Q

STALL 5 | J: B J Hernandez, Jr. | T: D Fawkes

Hernandez rides for Fawkes from five. The middle berth should allow a measured early position if he breaks cleanly.

Global Aviator N/Q

STALL 6 | J: L Saez | T: R G Crichton

Saez rides for Crichton from six. A clean start would give him a chance to find cover before the field compresses.

Cornwall Boss N/Q

STALL 7 | J: J L Ortiz | T: M Stidham

Ortiz rides for Stidham with a slightly higher assigned weight than the other three-year-olds. Needs an efficient trip from seven.

Imagine John N/Q

STALL 8 | J: U Rispoli | T: J M Antonucci

Rispoli rides for Antonucci from eight. Cover would be valuable, with an early wide effort liable to weaken the finish.

Big Apple Patrick N/Q

STALL 9 | J: K Kimura | T: D Leitch

Kimura rides for Leitch from nine. Requires a well-judged opening phase to avoid losing ground and position together.

Campobasso N/Q

STALL 10 | J: F Prat | T: B Baffert

Baffert and Prat are an obvious partnership to respect. The outside stall makes the cost of obtaining early position the main tactical question.

FRIDAY 30 OCTOBER / 18:15 GMT

Allowance optional claiming

7f dirt | 2YO | $165,000 | Race 5 | [4]

The final supporting race before the championships is a long sprint for juveniles. There is time to organise from the gate, but an early wide effort can leave little for the last furlong.

bet365: no quote available for this supporting market at the check. Listed in programme order. Notes use verified entries and tactical considerations; detailed recent form was not independently verified for these supporting fields.

Yacht Master N/Q

STALL 1 | J: F Prat | T: B Baffert

Baffert's juvenile has Prat aboard from the rail. A smooth break would allow ground to be saved without being trapped behind weakening runners.

Bet On Silver N/Q

STALL 3 | J: B Curtis | T: B P Walsh

The second Walsh entrant has Curtis aboard. Draw three is convenient, though stable preference should not be inferred from the riders alone.

Merit Badge N/Q

STALL 5 | J: D Sheehy | T: A M Meah

Sheehy rides for Meah from five. The middle berth gives options if he can settle instead of spending energy chasing the early pace.

Fusta N/Q

STALL 7 | J: B J Hernandez, Jr. | T: W D Cowans

Hernandez rides for Cowans with two pounds less than most rivals. That helps only if he secures a clean and economical trip.

Take a Picture N/Q

STALL 9 | J: J Rosario | T: R C Bryner

Rosario rides for Bryner from nine. Needs a composed opening phase so the draw does not compromise the final furlong.

McCoy N/Q

STALL 11 | J: J L Ortiz | T: C DeVaux

DeVaux and Ortiz are a partnership to respect, but stall eleven is demanding. A clear run matters more than simply being prominent early.

Kingside N/Q

STALL 2 | J: T Gaffalione | T: B P Walsh

Walsh and Gaffalione have a useful low gate. Seven furlongs requires the colt to conserve enough energy after securing position.

Spicy Taco N/Q

STALL 4 | J: P Lopez | T: L M Ramirez

Lopez rides for Ramirez from four. A manageable draw helps, but he still needs to sustain his speed through the extended sprint.

Sargent Bilko N/Q

STALL 6 | J: M Franco | T: E Kenneally

Franco rides for Kenneally from six. The task is to hold a useful position while preserving a finishing effort for seven furlongs.

Mission Integrity N/Q

STALL 8 | J: J Alvarado | T: W I Mott

Mott and Alvarado have an outer-half berth to organise. Cover is preferable to a prolonged early effort three or four wide.

Dormie N/Q

STALL 10 | J: L Saez | T: C M Block

Saez rides for Block from ten. He may need to balance obtaining position against the cost of crossing from a wide berth.

FRIDAY / 18:55 GMT

Juvenile Turf Sprint

5.5f turf | 2YO | Grade 1 | $1m [1, 2]

Historical / current marker	Evidence
2025 winner	Cy Fair
US tote favourite wins	2/8 (25.0%) 2018-25
Highest card RPRs	Libertango 133; Force Noir 130; Moonrise 127

The race in focus

Libertango brings the clearest class case after her Albany and Lowther wins, but this is her first drop below six furlongs. Force Noir is the closest published ratings rival; unbeaten Brickyard Belle is the most obvious home threat. The extra half-furlong compared with Del Mar rewards more than pure five-furlong speed.

Pace, draw and the likely challenge

Treat this as a race in which position and a clean turn matter. A strong early gallop helps runners conserving energy, but a closer needs clear traffic. Moonrise can save ground from one; Libertango's stall three offers options. Neither inside berth guarantees a passage.

The historical lens

ATR's eight-edition sample contains six last-start winners. Six champions raced close to the pace, but two won from well back. The sample is small and does not justify ruling out a closer. Ward trained three consecutive winners in 2019-21. [10]

WIN

Libertango | 7/4

The strongest combination of established class and the leading card figure; Prat can help her negotiate the new turning assignment.

EACH-WAY

Moonrise | 10/1

Consistent recent form, a competitive figure and a ground-saving draw give him a plausible placing route at 10/1. Traffic is the main risk.

All prices bet365 via Oddschecker, 28 October, 13:15-13:19 GMT. Quoted terms: 1/5 odds, 3 places. Selections are independent single-race views. Runner assessments follow. [3]

FRIDAY / 18:55 GMT

Juvenile Turf Sprint - the runners

bet365 prices | Active runners in ascending odds order, then reserves and withdrawals. Part 1 of 3. [2, 3]

Libertango 7/4

STALL 3 | Form 11212 | RPR 133

J: Flavien Prat

T: George Boughey

Albany and Lowther winner, then second to Sun Goddess in the Cheveley Park. That is persuasive class evidence. Dropping from six furlongs to a turning five and a half is the question; Prat's handling from stall three matters.

Force Noir 9/1

STALL 8 | Form 21012 | RPR 130

J: David Egan

T: Robson De Aguiar

The closest published ratings challenger to Libertango. His latest second and preceding win provide substance, and stall eight is workable if he can obtain cover. A major danger on figures, though the favourite has stronger headline form.

Final Objective 11/1

J: James Doyle

T: Hamad Al Jehani

Won last time and arrives with two victories in his last three displayed starts. James Doyle has options from the middle-to-outer section of the gate. Needs to transfer that improvement into a race with little room for hesitation.

Brickyard Belle 5/1

STALL 4 | Form 11 | RPR 123

J: Manuel Franco

T: Miguel Clement

Two wins from two starts make her one of the least exposed runners. The Matron winner offers an obvious home defence, although this is a broader test than her small career sample. A danger if she finds a clear passage.

Moonrise 10/1

STALL 1 | Form 12114 | RPR 127

J: Oisín Murphy

T: Andrew Balding

An inside draw offers a chance to save ground, provided he breaks cleanly. His latest fourth interrupts an otherwise strong sequence. Oisín Murphy must balance holding position against becoming trapped when the field accelerates.

Mussab 12/1

STALL 5 | Form 336111 | RPR 125

J: Oisín Orr

T: Richard & Peter Fahey

Three consecutive wins indicate a horse moving forward. This is a substantial rise in opposition, but that improvement makes him more interesting than an exposed runner with the same figure. Needs the speed to hold a useful turning position.

Juvenile Turf Sprint - the runners

bet365 prices | Active runners in ascending odds order, then reserves and withdrawals. Part 2 of 3. [2, 3]

Harper's Corner 12/1

STALL 10 | Form 1122 | RPR 120

J: Paco Lopez

T: Cathal Lynch

Two wins followed by two seconds give him a consistent profile; he chased home Brickyard Belle in the Matron. The wider stall creates a positioning decision. A place contender if he avoids spending too much energy early.

Crownbreaker 20/1

STALL 7 | Form 251072 | RPR 122

J: John Velazquez

T: Kevin Philippart De Foy

Latest second was a recovery after two less persuasive efforts. Velazquez brings experience, but the overall record is mixed. An economical trip would help; difficult to elevate above several rivals with a stronger recent sequence.

Velozee 25/1

J: Tyler Gaffalione

T: Paddy Twomey

Three successive third places suggest a dependable competitive level without a recent winning breakthrough. Gaffalione knows the circuit well. He needs a sharper finishing effort to beat the principals, rather than simply another solid performance.

Good To Be King 16/1

STALL 2 | Form 41321 | RPR 115

J: Jose Ortiz

T: George Arnold II

The Futurity winner adds a credible American challenge. His lower published figure leaves a sizeable gap to the favourite, but a strong early gallop could bring his finishing effort into play. More interesting if the leaders overdo it.

Hell Of A Spin 20/1

STALL 11 | Form 21333 | RPR 127

J: Mikey Sheehy

T: Adrian Keatley

Three consecutive thirds suggest he can compete without quite finishing the job. His figure is respectable for an outsider, but the outside stall increases the risk of covering extra ground. Requires a patient and well-timed ride.

Primetime Emmy 25/1

STALL 12 | Form 151 | RPR 124

J: Mickael Barzalona

T: Francis-Henri Graffard

Won two of three displayed starts and remains open to improvement. The outermost berth in the initial twelve is the complication: crossing costs energy and dropping in risks traffic. Interesting ability, with a demanding trip to negotiate.

FRIDAY / 18:55 GMT

Juvenile Turf Sprint - the runners

Wood Island 12/1

RESERVE 14 | Form 113 | RPR 122

J: Flavien Prat
T: George Weaver

Reserve. Two wins and a third make him an appealing potential replacement, and Prat is provisionally listed. He must get into the field, with jockey availability and final position checked again if that happens.

Adonius 12/1

J: John Velazquez
T: Rebecca Menzies

Reserve. Has an unusually consistent sequence of firsts and seconds, which warrants respect if he gains entry. The leap in opposition is still substantial. Do not treat his reserve number as a settled starting stall.

Ruiva 20/1

RESERVE 13 | Form 1324 | RPR 125

J: Juan Hernandez
T: Wesley Ward

Reserve. Ward's local experience is a positive, but she first needs a vacancy. Latest fourth leaves room for improvement. Reassess the actual stall and pace if admitted; the current price does not guarantee a run.

Love A Warrior 33/1

RESERVE 16 | Form 322 | RPR 120

J: Luis Saez
T: Steve Asmussen

Reserve. Two recent seconds suggest he is competitive at his existing level, but he is still seeking a breakthrough in the displayed form. Needs admission and a significant step forward against established stakes performers.

Fanshell Beach 40/1

RESERVE 17 | Form 1515 | RPR 119

J: Jose Ortiz
T: Wesley Ward

Reserve. Two wins appear in the recent sequence, alternating with fifths. That unevenness makes him harder to trust, even with Ward preparing him. A late entry would require a fresh look at the race shape.

Juvenile Fillies

1m 1/16 dirt | 2YO fillies | Grade 1 | $2m [1, 2]

Historical / current marker	Evidence
2025 winner	Super Corredora
US tote favourite wins	7/19 (36.8%) 2007-25
Highest card RPRs	Emphatic 131; Miss Monica 126; Voyager 123

The race in focus

The market contrasts Miss Monica's unbeaten speed with Emphatic's proven route ability. Emphatic has already won the Alcibiades over this track and trip and leads the published figures. Miss Monica has not raced beyond seven furlongs, making her ability to relax and finish a route central to the contest.

Pace, draw and the likely challenge

Prefer a filly that can secure position without being driven into an early duel. Emphatic must organise stall ten; Miss Monica has a more central berth. If the favourite spends too much early, the balance can swing towards a runner already comfortable over the distance.

The historical lens

In ATR's 2007-25 sample, eight winners used the Frizette as their final prep and five came through the Alcibiades. Eleven had already won a Grade 1. These are preparation clues, not qualifying requirements: Super Corredora arrived with only a maiden win last year. [10]

WIN

Emphatic | 9/4

Her course-and-distance success and leading card figure make the 9/4 second favourite more persuasive than the shorter-priced stamina question.

EACH-WAY

Manuka Honey | 10/1

Three displayed wins leave room for further progress. At 10/1 she offers an alternative to the leading pair, with the class rise clearly acknowledged.

All prices bet365 via Oddschecker, 28 October, 13:15-13:19 GMT. Quoted terms: 1/5 odds, 3 places. Selections are independent single-race views. Runner assessments follow. [3]

Juvenile Fillies - the runners

bet365 prices | Active runners in ascending odds order, then reserves and withdrawals. Part 1 of 2. [2, 3]

Miss Monica 7/4

STALL 5 | Form 11 | RPR 126

J: Flavien Prat
T: Bob Baffert

Unbeaten in two starts and supported by the Baffert-Prat combination. Her speed is obvious, but she has yet to race beyond seven furlongs. This route asks her to preserve that speed through two turns under greater pressure.

Emphatic 9/4

STALL 10 | Form 111 | RPR 131

J: Tyler Gaffalione
T: Brendan Walsh

Three wins, including the Alcibiades over this course and distance, make her the strongest proven route proposition. Her leading published figure reinforces that case. The outside draw needs managing, but she answers more stamina questions than Miss Monica.

Domain Expansion 15/2

STALL 2 | Form 21 | RPR 120

J: Adrian Escobedo
T: Leonard Powell

Improved from second to first in two starts. The light racing record leaves upside, while a low draw offers an economical route. She must prove that progress extends to this deeper field and sustained pressure around two turns.

Manuka Honey 10/1

STALL 8 | Form 111 | RPR 118

J: Luis Saez
T: Brian Lynch

Three wins from three provide an appealing alternative to the market leaders. Saez can be an asset in securing position, though the outside half of the gate adds a tactical question. Unexposed enough to interest each-way at double figures.

Foxiest 16/1

STALL 3 | Form 31 | RPR 112

J: Junior Alvarado
T: Brad Cox

A third followed by a win gives Cox another developing contender. Junior Alvarado is an experienced partner for a filly still learning. Needs a marked ratings advance; the attraction is untapped improvement rather than established superiority.

Voyager 16/1

J: Javier Castellano
T: Mark Casse

Two seconds followed by two wins make this a steadily improving profile. Her figure puts her behind the leading pair but close enough to be considered for the frame. Castellano must negotiate an efficient trip from eleven.

FRIDAY / 19:35 GMT

Juvenile Fillies - the runners

bet365 prices | Active runners in ascending odds order, then reserves and withdrawals. Part 2 of 2. [2, 3]

Scarlett Begonia 20/1

STALL 1 | Form 132 | RPR 113

J: Manuel Franco
T: Brad Cox

Has finished in the first three on all three displayed starts. That consistency gives her a foothold, but the leading pair set a considerably stronger figures standard. Stall one saves ground only if she handles the traffic and kickback.

Lexi's Charm 20/1

STALL 7 | Form 141 | RPR 106

J: Jose Ortiz
T: Mark Casse

Won two of her three displayed outings, including the latest. That winning habit is attractive, but the published figure is among the lower ones here. She needs improvement in the quality of the performance, beyond another favourable result.

Rum Twist 25/1

J: John Velazquez
T: Mark Hennig

A recent win and second suggest she is moving in the right direction. Draw four offers flexibility, but her overall level remains below the principals. More persuasive for a minor placing than as the most likely winner.

Life Changing 25/1

STALL 12 | Form 172 | RPR 104

J: Juan Hernandez
T: Todd Pletcher

Has a win in the recent sequence but followed it with seventh and second. Her displayed figure leaves a large deficit. Hernandez faces an awkward outside position, and a much stronger effort is needed to trouble the favourites.

Revenge Of The Sis 40/1

STALL 6 | Form 33 | RPR 113

J: Edgard Zayas
T: George Weaver

Third in both displayed starts, giving her a reliable but modest platform. Zayas must help her improve without chasing the stronger runners too early. A substantial step forward is required to turn that consistency into championship success.

Badittude 50/1

J: Joel Rosario
T: Todd Pletcher

Progressed from fifth to fourth to second. The direction is encouraging, but she has not yet shown the winning level of the principals. Needs another appreciable leap and a race that allows her to build momentum late.

Juvenile Fillies Turf

1m turf | 2YO fillies | Grade 1 | $1m [1, 2]

Historical / current marker	Evidence
2025 winner	Balantina
US tote favourite wins	5/18 (27.8%) 2008-25
Highest card RPRs	Sun Goddess 135; Amusingly 130; Domestic Agenda 128

The race in focus

Sun Goddess sets the class standard after three Group 1 wins, with Amusingly the most credible European challenger on the published figures. The move from sprinting to a turning mile still asks a new question. Domestic Agenda's decisive Miss Grillo makes her the American alternative to take seriously.

Pace, draw and the likely challenge

A modest pace would increase the importance of settling and position. Sun Goddess can be adaptable; Domestic Agenda's closing style needs a clear route from twelve. Green Empress can save ground from the rail, but may need luck escaping a pocket.

The historical lens

Brown has won six times from 22 runners in this division, according to ATR. Twelve of the 18 champions won their final prep; Balantina became the first to win after finishing outside the first three last time. European-trained runners won three of the last ten, not a majority. [10]

WIN

Sun Goddess | 4/6

Her class and leading card figure make her the most likely winner, with the new distance and short 4/6 quote limiting betting appeal.

EACH-WAY

Domestic Agenda | 10/1

Unbeaten in two displayed starts, a strong Miss Grillo win and Brown's divisional expertise support a 10/1 place case. A slow pace is the danger.

All prices bet365 via Oddschecker, 28 October, 13:15-13:19 GMT. Quoted terms: 1/5 odds, 3 places. Selections are independent single-race views. Runner assessments follow. [3]

Sun Goddess 4/6

J: Ryan Moore
T: Aidan O'Brien

Three Group 1 wins and four consecutive victories establish the class standard. Moore can use her adaptability, although stall nine demands attention to position. The mile is a different assignment from her sprint form; the short price allows little error.

Amusingly 7/2

J: Colin Keane
T: Francis-Henri Graffard

Beat colts in the Jean-Luc Lagardere and has won two of three displayed starts. She is the closest ratings threat to Sun Goddess. The adjacent draw makes positioning and settling especially interesting; a serious rival, rather than merely a place prospect.

Green Empress 10/1

STALL 1 | Form 22121 | RPR 127

J: Dylan Browne McMonagle
T: Joseph O'Brien

The Boussac winner supplies proven European quality and a useful inside starting position. That position can also become a pocket if the pace slows. McMonagle needs daylight at the right moment; a credible threat beyond the favourite.

Domestic Agenda 10/1

STALL 12 | Form 11 | RPR 128

J: Flavien Prat
T: Chad Brown

Two wins, including a decisive Miss Grillo, make her the principal American alternative. Brown's record in this division adds context. Her closing style and stall twelve create traffic and pace risks, but double-figure odds make the each-way case attractive.

Curraclloe 12/1

J: Ben Coen
T: Johnny Murtagh

Two starts, two wins: her ceiling is not established. The low draw should help her find cover, but this field contains rivals with stronger measured form. An improving filly who deserves more respect than a bare experience count suggests.

Alwaysanangel 16/1

STALL 6 | Form 1313 | RPR 125

J: Oisin Murphy
T: Joseph O'Brien

Two wins and two thirds in four displayed runs underline her reliability. Murphy has a reasonable middle draw to work from. She needs to bridge a ratings gap, but is less dependent on finding an entirely new level than some outsiders.

Vanta 25/1

STALL 7 | Form 111 | RPR 119

J: Umberto Rispoli
T: Jeff Mullins

Three consecutive wins make her an improving home contender. Rispoli's judgement around the bends will matter against European fillies bringing stronger headline form. Worth considering for progression, without assuming unbeaten form automatically translates into Grade 1 class.

Citrus Springs 40/1

STALL 8 | Form 6211 | RPR 110

J: Manuel Franco
T: Miguel Clement

Two latest wins are encouraging and she now appears under Miguel Clement in the official entries. Her published figure trails the principal contenders. She could influence the race tactically, but needs a sizeable improvement to finish it strongest.

Scommessa Sicura 50/1

STALL 11 | Form 221225 | RPR 119

J: Billy Loughnane
T: Andrew Balding

Her recent sequence contains several seconds and ends with fifth. That suggests ability without recent dominance. Loughnane needs to obtain cover from eleven, and she must improve her finishing effort to trouble the stronger European fillies.

Serenas Ghost 40/1

STALL 4 | Form 11 | RPR 122

J: Luis Saez
T: Joe Sharp

Unbeaten in two displayed starts and drawn where Saez can seek an economical trip. The class rise is substantial, so another win requires a new level. Interesting if her early position is secured without a damaging duel.

De La Renta 50/1

STALL 5 | Form 112 | RPR 119

J: Kazushi Kimura
T: Kevin Attard

Two wins and a second give her a consistent recent record. Her figure is below the leading group, and she needs more than a repeat of that existing level. A clean break and saved ground would strengthen her place case.

Seneca Park 50/1

STALL 13 | Form 112 | RPR 118

J: Brian Hernandez Jr
T: Dallas Stewart

Two wins followed by second leave a positive recent record. Her outside position and lower figure both need overcoming. Best considered as an improving outsider who requires a favourable passage, rather than a horse already matching the market leaders.

FRIDAY / 20:15 GMT

Ballinea Star 100/1

STALL 14 | Form 541143 | RPR 115

J: Tyler Gaffalione
T: Robson De Aguiar

Has been busy and competitive, but recent third and fourth places point to a level below the principals. Stall fourteen is another obstacle. Gaffalione must find an efficient route while avoiding an early effort that empties the tank.

Silent Beauty 40/1

RESERVE 15 | Form 1011 | RPR 115

T: Kevin Philippart De Foy

Reserve. Won three of four displayed starts, including her latest two. That makes her a potentially lively addition, but admission comes first. Her final starting position and the pace implications need checking if a vacancy opens.

Luminous Beauty 50/1

RESERVE 16 | Form 215223 | RPR 109

J: Tyler Gaffalione
T: Jena Antonucci

Reserve. Several placings show consistency, but her latest third did not establish a new winning level. Needs both a place in the field and stronger form. A late entry alone would not resolve the gap to the main contenders.

Quibbler 50/1

J: Jaime Torres
T: Riley Mott

Reserve. A debut win followed by fourth leaves limited evidence and scope to improve. Torres is provisionally booked. Treat the price as conditional on participation and reassess the field if she gets in.

Go For Launch 66/1

NON-RUNNER | Form 112 | RPR 118

J: Pietro Moran
T: Kevin Attard

Listed as a non-runner on the Racing Post card at the check. The comparison market still displays a price, which is not evidence of participation. Excluded from the selections; check current withdrawal and settlement information with the bookmaker.

FRIDAY / 20:55 GMT

Juvenile

1m 1/16 dirt | 2YO colts/geldings | Grade 1 | $2m [1, 2]

Historical / current marker	Evidence
2025 winner	Ted Noffey
US tote favourite wins	6/19 (31.6%) 2007-25
Highest card RPRs	Hughes 133; American History 131; Coach Pope 128

The race in focus

Hughes is unbeaten in four and leads the card figures, but American History is only two pounds behind and has won both displayed starts. Coach Pope supplies a consistent third major contender. Baffert also runs the unbeaten Salahudin, whose scope to improve is more attractive than his current figure.

Pace, draw and the likely challenge

Eight runners reduce traffic but do not remove pace risk. Hughes and American History must prove they can respond when another horse challenges. Watch whether either is allowed to control matters; a contested lead could bring Coach Pope into the race.

The historical lens

Twelve of ATR's 19 champions had already won a Grade 1, and twelve won their final prep. Seven arrived via the American Pharoah or predecessor races, five via the Champagne. Baffert's six Juvenile wins are a race record; they do not make his two runners equally likely winners. [10]

WIN

Hughes | 6/5

Four wins and the leading figure give Hughes the strongest established case. American History remains a serious threat at the larger price.

EACH-WAY

Salahudin | 7/1

Three wins suggest more ability may be available than his modest published figure. The 7/1 price allows a separate place approach; he is the less secure of our Friday each-way choices.

All prices bet365 via Oddschecker, 28 October, 13:15-13:19 GMT. Quoted terms: 1/5 odds, 3 places. Selections are independent single-race views. Runner assessments follow. [3]

FRIDAY / 20:55 GMT

Juvenile - the runners

bet365 prices | Active runners in ascending odds order, then reserves and withdrawals. Part 1 of 1. [2, 3]

Hughes 6/5

STALL 5 | Form 1111 | RPR 133

J: Flavien Prat
T: Bob Baffert

Four wins from four make him the obvious standard bearer. His published figure leads the field, and Prat can assess the pace from stall five. The uncertainty is how he responds when rivals force him into a closer contest.

American History 7/2

J: John Velazquez
T: Todd Pletcher

Two wins and a figure only two pounds below Hughes make him a substantial danger. Velazquez and Pletcher are a proven championship partnership. He offers a credible route to beating the favourite if his improvement continues under stronger pressure.

Coach Pope 4/1

J: Jose Ortiz
T: Kenny McPeck

First or second in all three displayed runs and close to the principals on ratings. McPeck's runner has a solid frame chance. The 4/1 quote is less attractive each-way at one-fifth odds, so he is a respected rival rather than our place selection.

Salahudin 7/1

STALL 3 | Form 111 | RPR 115

J: Tyler Gaffalione
T: Bob Baffert

Three wins from three make Baffert's second runner intriguing. The published figure is well below Hughes, so the case rests on untapped ability. At 7/1 he is an each-way alternative if he handles a genuinely competitive route race.

Gaudreau 12/1

STALL 2 | Form 12 | RPR 116

J: Manuel Franco
T: Chad Brown

A win and a second provide a sound early platform. Brown's runner is less exposed than several rivals, and draw two can save ground. The question is whether he can improve enough to stay with the leading trio when pressure rises.

Damavand 33/1

STALL 1 | Form 41 | RPR 109

J: Luis Saez
T: Todd Pletcher

Improved from fourth to first and has only two displayed starts. Saez and Pletcher offer experience, but the figure leaves a clear class deficit. Needs a major developmental leap rather than just an economical inside trip.

He Is No Lie 33/1

STALL 8 | Form 1242 | RPR 113

J: Joel Rosario
T: Doug O'Neill

Has remained competitive after a winning start, most recently second. The outside stall in a small field is manageable, but he needs a much stronger performance. Difficult to prefer on current figures despite the scope for juvenile improvement.

Earth Song 40/1

STALL 4 | Form 14 | RPR 109

J: Junior Alvarado
T: Jorge Delgado

A debut win followed by fourth leaves him with something to prove. His middle draw is manageable, but the leading runners have shown much stronger figures. Requires significant improvement and a race run to suit his strengths.

FRIDAY / 21:35 GMT

Juvenile Turf

Historical / current marker	Evidence
2025 winner	Gstaad
US tote favourite wins	5/19 (26.3%) 2007-25
Highest card RPRs	Folsom Blues 132; Haffner 127; Great Barrier Reef 127

The race in focus

Aidan O'Brien's four initial runners command respect, with Moore on Great Barrier Reef from the outside stall. Folsom Blues has the leading published figure and a consistent series of firsts and seconds. We prefer his 3/1 chance to the favourite's shorter quote, accepting that draw ten needs managing.

Pace, draw and the likely challenge

The opening turn is a contest for cover as well as position. Great Barrier Reef must cross or drop in from fourteen; Haffner starts more conveniently in four. Folsom Blues needs to avoid being trapped wide, but does not have to force the lead.

The historical lens

O'Brien has eight wins in 19 runnings and has taken the last four. ATR records 14 winners arriving from a European final prep, and 11 champions beaten on their latest start. A defeat beforehand is therefore no automatic negative; the quality and circumstances matter. [10]

WIN

Folsom Blues | 3/1

The highest card figure and dependable recent results make a strong case at 3/1. The outer-half draw is the chief tactical reservation.

EACH-WAY

Haffner | 6/1

A latest win, a competitive figure and stall four offer a sensible 6/1 alternative. Soumillon can seek an economical trip without needing an early scramble.

All prices bet365 via Oddschecker, 28 October, 13:15-13:19 GMT. Quoted terms: 1/5 odds, 3 places. Selections are independent single-race views. Runner assessments follow. [3]

Great Barrier Reef 9/4

J: Ryan Moore
T: Aidan O'Brien

Three wins began the displayed sequence, followed by second and third. Moore chooses a runner with a serious chance, although stall fourteen is demanding. The market recognises the stable's record; his trip still needs to justify a short quote.

Haffner 6/1

STALL 4 | Form 212171 | RPR 127

J: Christophe Soumillon
T: Aidan O'Brien

Returned to winning form last time and sits in a useful position in stall four. Soumillon can seek cover without conceding too much ground. A plausible each-way alternative, with recent variability the reason to keep confidence measured.

Avec Toi 12/1

STALL 2 | Form 11116 | RPR 124

J: Flavien Prat
T: Christopher Head

Four wins preceded a latest sixth, so the broader record deserves respect. Prat and stall two provide a workable tactical platform. Needs to put that most recent defeat behind him and show his strongest form on the turning mile.

Liam's Law 16/1

J: Jose Ortiz
T: Todd Pletcher

Two consecutive wins make Pletcher's runner a horse moving forward. Ortiz can look for cover from the middle of the gate. He needs to improve on the published figure, but the recent sequence is more encouraging than the bare rating.

Folsom Blues 3/1

J: Dylan Browne McMonagle
T: Joseph O'Brien

The strongest published figure in the field and a consistent run of firsts and seconds make him our win choice. Draw ten requires McMonagle to obtain cover efficiently. He need not dominate early to bring his finishing ability into play.

How's Al Today 6/1

STALL 5 | Form 1311 | RPR 125

J: Brian Hernandez Jr
T: Riley Mott

Three wins in four displayed starts, including the latest two, suggest improvement. Hernandez can work with draw five. Needs another step up to match the leading figure, but offers a credible American challenge at a less demanding price.

Florida Bay 16/1

STALL 3 | Form 141234 | RPR 125

J: Wayne Lordan
T: Aidan O'Brien

Has not won in his last four displayed starts, but remains competitive against useful opposition. Lordan rides from a favourable low-to-middle position. Requires a stronger finish, and his stable has several other credible routes into the race.

Agate 20/1

STALL 13 | Form 6131 | RPR 124

J: Tyler Gaffalione
T: Kelsey Danner

Won two of his last four displayed starts, including the latest. That gives him an upward route, but the wide draw adds to the task. Gaffalione needs cover and a clean run; a lively outsider if he progresses again.

Let Em Know 25/1

STALL 7 | Form 6151 | RPR 119

J: Edgard Zayas
T: Whit Beckman

Latest win was a welcome improvement after mixed earlier results. Zayas must help him hold position without spending too much energy. The attraction is potential further progress, with the current figure leaving plenty to find.

Oscar 25/1

J: William Buick
T: Miguel Clement

A win and a second leave room for further development. Buick is an appealing booking, though draw twelve risks a wide trip. Needs a marked improvement in measured form, making him more a potential improver than a proven leading contender.

Sale Shark 40/1

J: Oisín Murphy
T: Hugo Palmer

A busy, inconsistent record makes him harder to trust than several less exposed rivals. Murphy will need to get him settled and travelling smoothly. An outsider with ability, but his latest sixth leaves a considerable question about current effectiveness.

Popcorn 40/1

J: Manuel Franco
T: Jonathan Thomas

Reserve. Two wins followed by fourth give him useful form, but first he needs a vacancy. A final outer position could complicate matters. Reassess the field and Franco's booking if he enters the race.

Man's Best Friend 25/1

STALL 11 | Form 41143 | RPR 125

J: Colin Keane
T: Aidan O'Brien

Has been competitive without winning his latest two starts. Keane rides another O'Brien contender from a wider position. Needs to avoid an expensive early trip and find more late; the profile is respectable without being the strongest in the stable.

Induction 33/1

J: Junior Alvarado
T: Graham Motion

A win followed by third leaves a lightly raced profile. The inside draw can help Alvarado conserve ground, but also requires room when the race changes gear. Needs a sizeable ratings advance to turn promise into a championship-winning effort.

Pikachu 50/1

J: David Egan
T: Charlie Johnston

Has plenty of experience but the recent record includes more defeats than wins. The middle draw avoids an obvious positional extreme. Needs a substantially stronger effort; a favourable trip alone would not close the gap to the principal contenders.

SATURDAY 31 OCTOBER / 15:15 GMTMaiden special weight

7f dirt | 2YO | $150,000 | Race 1 | [4]

A juvenile maiden opens Saturday. Professionalism and a clean start can be decisive, and the trainer figures elsewhere in this guide are supporting context rather than a substitute for each horse's ability.

bet365: no quote available for this supporting market at the check. Listed in programme order. Notes use verified entries and tactical considerations; detailed recent form was not independently verified for these supporting fields.

Candor N/Q

STALL 1 | J: B J Hernandez, Jr. | T: D Stewart

Hernandez rides for Stewart from the rail. An inexperienced colt needs to break cleanly and cope with traffic to exploit that position.

Tacamo N/Q

STALL 3 | J: A P Ulloa | T: K Hernandez

Ulloa rides for Hernandez from three. The main requirement is a professional start and enough composure to sustain the seven-furlong effort.

Powerline N/Q

STALL 5 | J: F Prat | T: S M Asmussen

Prat rides for Asmussen from five. The trainer's local juvenile record is encouraging context, while the colt must still execute on the track.

Bourbon Neat N/Q

STALL 7 | J: A Concepcion | T: W Walden

Concepcion rides for Walden from seven. Needs cover and a measured early phase to keep enough in reserve for the closing furlong.

Mahogany Dream N/Q

STALL 9 | J: B Curtis | T: N G Goodwin

Curtis rides for Goodwin from nine. A clean beginning would help him find cover, which is important in a twelve-runner juvenile field.

Overtime Bonus N/Q

STALL 11 | J: L Saez | T: M E Casse

Saez rides for Casse from eleven. The long sprint gives time to organise, though a wide early effort could compromise his finish.

Highwaymen N/Q

STALL 2 | J: J L Ortiz | T: C DeVaux

Ortiz rides for DeVaux from two. The low berth offers a simple tactical route if he travels comfortably behind the opening pace.

Knicks Diamonds N/Q

STALL 4 | J: F Arrieta | T: M P Sims

Arrieta rides for Sims from four. A straightforward draw helps, with settling and handling kickback important for a juvenile maiden.

You Want Some N/Q

STALL 6 | J: J Rosario | T: R C Bryner

Rosario rides for Bryner from six. A middle draw provides options if he can find rhythm without chasing the leaders too hard.

Supreme Commander N/Q

STALL 8 | J: T Gaffalione | T: B P Walsh

Walsh and Gaffalione have a workable middle-to-outer berth. The colt needs to settle without being forced into an expensive wide trip.

Baytown Thracian N/Q

STALL 10 | J: O Mojica, Jr. | T: P McEntee

McEntee's runner benefits from an apprentice allowance. Mojica must still negotiate a wide stall without conceding too much ground.

Shock Value N/Q

STALL 12 | J: M Franco | T: C DeVaux

Franco rides another DeVaux entrant from the outside stall. Needs a well-judged start; the rider booking alone does not establish stable preference.

SATURDAY 31 OCTOBER / 15:50 GMTAllowance optional claiming

7f dirt | 2YO fillies | $165,000 | Race 2 | [4]

A nine-runner long sprint for juvenile fillies, with allowance and claiming eligibility. The smaller field helps organisation, but the pace can still punish a filly committed too strongly early.

bet365: no quote available for this supporting market at the check. Listed in programme order. Notes use verified entries and tactical considerations; detailed recent form was not independently verified for these supporting fields.

Betty Sue N/Q

STALL 1 | J: A Espinoza | T: R C Bryner

Espinoza rides for Bryner from the rail. An economical trip is possible, provided she holds position and handles kickback calmly.

Master Queen N/Q

STALL 3 | J: J A Torres | T: C Munoz

Torres rides for Munoz from three. Needs an efficient early phase and a sustained finish rather than a costly speed contest.

Virabhadrasana N/Q

STALL 5 | J: F Prat | T: K LaRose

Prat rides for LaRose from five. That middle draw allows tactical flexibility, provided she settles and avoids an unnecessary early battle.

Fizzypopberrytwist N/Q

STALL 7 | J: O Mojica, Jr. | T: P McEntee

The apprentice allowance reduces her assigned weight. Mojica must combine that advantage with an economical route from seven.

Right in Time N/Q

STALL 9 | J: J Alvarado | T: R Mott

Alvarado rides for Riley Mott from the outside of nine. The key is avoiding an early wide effort that leaves little for the finish.

Girls Wear Pearls N/Q

STALL 2 | J: U Rispoli | T: J M Antonucci

Rispoli rides for Antonucci from two. A low gate gives options, with the ability to settle through seven furlongs central to the task.

Harmoniously N/Q

STALL 4 | J: J L Ortiz | T: C DeVaux

DeVaux and Ortiz have a useful middle berth. The filly can obtain cover if she breaks cleanly, preserving energy for the final furlong.

She's Toasty N/Q

STALL 6 | J: L Saez | T: E Kenneally

Kenneally and Saez have a manageable gate in six. A position behind the pace would reduce the cost of the outer-half draw.

Don't Tell Mom N/Q

STALL 8 | J: J R Velazquez | T: B A Lynch

Velazquez rides for Lynch from eight. Needs cover without surrendering too much position, especially if the early speed is concentrated inside.

SATURDAY 31 OCTOBER / 16:25 GMTAllowance optional claiming

6.5f dirt | 3YO+ | $185,000 | Race 3 | [4]

Thirteen entrants make this a competitive final supporting sprint. There are different routes into the conditions, so eligibility is not a ranking of ability. Look for efficient early positioning and enough finishing strength.

bet365: no quote available for this supporting market at the check. Listed in programme order. Notes use verified entries and tactical considerations; detailed recent form was not independently verified for these supporting fields.

Booth N/Q

STALL 1 | J: J L Ortiz | T: S M Asmussen

Ortiz rides for Asmussen from the rail. Holding a useful position matters, but he must avoid becoming trapped behind a tiring leader.

Jimmy Rules N/Q

STALL 3 | J: W A Rodriguez | T: S L Anderson

Rodriguez rides for Anderson from three. Needs to travel comfortably at sprint pace and retain enough effort for the extended finish.

Extra Anejo N/Q

STALL 5 | J: K J Asmussen | T: S M Asmussen

Keith Asmussen rides for his father from five. The local stable record adds context; the horse still needs to handle the race's pace pressure.

Durante N/Q

STALL 7 | J: J Rosario | T: D Jacobson

Rosario rides for Jacobson from seven. Needs an efficient route and a measured effort against younger rivals in a competitive allowance field.

Steeze N/Q

STALL 2 | J: J Alvarado | T: R Mott

Alvarado rides for Riley Mott from two. The low gate offers a ground-saving route, with a clear late passage still required.

Lips Say Bliss N/Q

STALL 4 | J: C A Torres | T: R Medina

Torres rides for Medina from four. A useful low-to-middle berth should allow cover if he breaks and settles cleanly.

Will Take It N/Q

STALL 6 | J: B J Hernandez, Jr. | T: D Stewart

Hernandez rides for Stewart from six. A middle draw gives options if he can conserve energy behind the early speed.

SATURDAY 31 OCTOBER / 16:25 GMT

Tennessee Lamb N/Q

STALL 8 | J: T Gaffalione | T: D Jacobson

Gaffalione rides the second Jacobson entrant from eight. Cover is useful, with the early positioning decision likely to shape his finish.

Sir Greyhind N/Q

STALL 9 | J: F Arrieta | T: M Douaihy

Arrieta rides for Douaihy from nine. The outer-half gate demands a balanced decision between pressing forward and dropping behind the speed.

Floodlites N/Q

STALL 10 | J: P Lopez | T: W A Ward

Ward and Lopez are a credible sprint partnership. Draw ten adds a potential ground-loss cost, so a clean break is especially valuable.

Saudi Crown N/Q

STALL 11 | J: F Prat | T: B H Cox

Cox and Prat are a partnership to respect. From eleven, the main tactical requirement is securing position without a prolonged wide effort.

Here Mi Song N/Q

STALL 12 | J: E Morales | T: W Stinson, Jr.

Morales rides for Stinson from twelve. The experienced entrant needs an economical passage to avoid the draw becoming a decisive disadvantage.

Henro N/Q

STALL 13 | J: R Bejarano | T: C A Hartman

Bejarano rides for Hartman from the outermost stall. A well-judged opening phase is essential in a thirteen-runner sprint.

Filly & Mare Sprint

7f dirt | 3YO+ females | Grade 1 | $1m [1, 2]

Historical / current marker	Evidence
2025 winner	Splendora
US tote favourite wins	7/19 (36.8%) 2007-25
Highest card RPRs	R Disaster 138; Ways And Means 137; Praying 136

The race in focus

Ways And Means has recent winning form and a strong figure, but R Disaster is actually one pound higher on the card. Explora is close enough to threaten, while Sweet Azteca and Kerry's Kiss bring striking winning sequences. Seven furlongs asks runners to conserve speed as well as produce it.

Pace, draw and the likely challenge

The long backstretch run makes the draw less absolute than in a short turning sprint. Ways And Means can save ground from two; R Disaster is well placed in four. An early battle between the speed horses would reward a runner able to travel just behind them.

The historical lens

Eleven of the 19 winners in ATR's sample had already won a Grade 1. Eleven won their final prep. Winners have used a broad range of running styles, making the actual pace more useful than a blanket instruction to back leaders or closers. [10]

WIN

Ways And Means | 7/4

A strong current profile, Prat and an economical starting position make the favourite the most persuasive all-round win candidate.

EACH-WAY

R Disaster | 8/1

The highest card figure, a latest win and a practical draw make 8/1 appealing. Her intervening sixth reminds us that reproducing the peak is not assured.

All prices bet365 via Oddschecker, 28 October, 13:15-13:19 GMT. Quoted terms: 1/5 odds, 3 places. Selections are independent single-race views. Runner assessments follow. [3]

Filly & Mare Sprint - the runners

Ways And Means 7/4

STALL 2 | Form 31-211 | RPR 137

J: Flavien Prat
T: Chad Brown

Two latest wins and a strong published figure give the favourite a sound case. Prat can seek an economical trip from stall two. Must keep enough in reserve for the final furlong if several speed horses apply sustained pressure.

Sweet Azteca 6/1

J: Juan Hernandez
T: Richard Baltas

Four displayed wins either side of a seasonal break show a powerful winning habit. Hernandez knows how to manage speed, but she must sustain it against deeper opposition. The long sprint is a test of control as well as pace.

Kilwin 9/1

STALL 12 | Form 118-12 | RPR 132

J: Javier Castellano
T: George Arnold II

Four wins appear in the five displayed results, with latest second showing continued competitiveness. Castellano's task is to avoid an unnecessarily wide effort. Her current figure puts her in the discussion, though below the strongest pair on the card.

Nooni 16/1

STALL 13 | Form 65/311 | RPR 120

J: Mario Gutierrez
T: Bob Baffert

Two latest wins mark a recovery after earlier defeats. That improvement deserves notice, but stall thirteen and a lower published figure combine to make this tougher. Gutierrez needs a smooth early phase and another appreciable step forward.

Explora 9/2

J: Jose Ortiz
T: Bob Baffert

A consistent high-level contender whose latest second followed two wins. Ortiz must negotiate the outer draw, though seven furlongs gives more time to organise than a shorter sprint. A principal danger, with a solid figures platform and room to improve.

R Disaster 8/1

STALL 4 | Form 13161 | RPR 138

J: Tyler Gaffalione
T: Saffie Joseph Jr

The highest published figure in the field offers a meaningful challenge to the favourite. A latest win restored momentum after sixth. Gaffalione can work from stall four; her chance is serious if she reproduces her strongest effort.

Evanescence 11/1

J: Luis Saez
T: Eddie Kenneally

A latest victory adds substance to a sequence of placed efforts. Saez can help secure position, but the published figure leaves a notable deficit. Further improvement is required, especially if the leaders maintain their effort through seven furlongs.

Filly & Mare Sprint - the runners

bet365 prices | Active runners in ascending odds order, then reserves and withdrawals. Part 2 of 2. [2, 3]

Majestic Oops 20/1

STALL 6 | Form 13342 | RPR 133

J: Francisco Arrieta
T: Phil D'Amato

Has been consistent without a recent win, finishing second last time. Her figure is competitive for a place and Arrieta has a workable middle berth. More likely to benefit from others over-racing than to impose herself on the contest.

Kerry's Kiss 20/1

STALL 8 | Form 41111 | RPR -

J: Edwin Gonzalez
T: Saffie Joseph Jr

Four consecutive wins make her a runner with momentum. There is no published RPR on the card, which increases comparison uncertainty. Treat the streak as a reason to investigate, rather than proof she has already matched championship opposition.

Praying 25/1

J: John Velazquez
T: Robert Medina

Her latest second is stronger encouragement than the preceding sequence of defeats. The figure places her close to the favourites, making the 25/1 quote interesting. Needs to reproduce that level under Grade 1 pressure, rather than simply run respectably.

Foie Gras 25/1

STALL 5 | Form 12321 | RPR 128

J: Ricardo Santana Jr
T: Mike Maker

A win after several placings suggests she arrives in good order. Santana can seek a stalking position from the middle. Needs to lift her existing figure, but a contested pace would make conserving energy particularly valuable.

Look Forward 33/1

STALL 1 | Form 6124-2 | RPR -

J: Umberto Rispoli
T: Michael McCarthy

Her return second offers encouragement after a break. The published rating is unavailable, so there is no reliable figure comparison here. Rispoli and the inside draw can help save ground, provided she handles the kickback and finds room.

Simply Joking 40/1

J: Manuel Franco
T: Michael McCarthy

Recent seconds and thirds suggest she can compete without finishing races off. Franco faces the challenge of finding cover from ten. A suitable pace could help her place prospects, but she needs more to win than her latest performances provide.

SATURDAY / 17:48 GMT

Turf Sprint

5.5f turf | 3YO+ | Grade 1 | $1m [1, 2]

Historical / current marker	Evidence
2025 winner	Shisospicy
US tote favourite wins	5/18 (27.8%) 2008-25
Highest card RPRs	Bacio 139; Shisospicy 138; In Our Time 138

The race in focus

Bacio has three consecutive wins and the leading figure, making him the obvious win candidate. Comanche Brave brings a Flying Five victory and is a substantial danger. The defending champion Shisospicy is much bigger at 11/1 after a disappointing return, yet her figure remains close to the favourite.

Pace, draw and the likely challenge

Expect the opening position battle to be important, without assuming that the rail is automatically best. Bacio and Shisospicy start low, while Comanche Brave has room to assess from seven. A sustained early duel would make the extra half-furlong especially demanding.

The historical lens

The overall favourite record is distorted by Santa Anita's downhill configuration. ATR reports only two winning favourites in 12 editions on standard ovals. Eight of those twelve winners started in the inside half. Those counts are context, with class and the individual break still essential. [10]

WIN

Bacio | 11/8

Winning momentum, the best card figure and a useful draw make Bacio the strongest win choice, while a pressured pace is the obvious risk.

EACH-WAY

Shisospicy | 11/1

The defending champion retains a figure only one pound below the favourite and starts in two. The 11/1 price compensates for a real question about her latest seventh.

All prices bet365 via Oddschecker, 28 October, 13:15-13:19 GMT. Quoted terms: 1/5 odds, 3 places. Selections are independent single-race views. Runner assessments follow. [3]

SATURDAY / 17:48 GMT

Turf Sprint - the runners

bet365 prices | Active runners in ascending odds order, then reserves and withdrawals. Part 1 of 3. [2, 3]

Bacio 11/8

STALL 3 | Form 21-111 | RPR 139

J: Juan Hernandez
T: Wesley Ward

Three consecutive wins and the leading published figure explain favouritism. Ward's runner has a useful low draw and Hernandez aboard. The risk is a pressured early battle; he still needs to preserve enough speed for the extra half-furlong at Keeneland.

Cy Fair 10/1

J: John Velazquez
T: George Weaver

Last year's Juvenile Turf Sprint winner now faces older opposition. Her latest sixth is a warning, while the wider berth complicates the trip. Has the ability to matter, but needs a return to her best rather than a repeat of that defeat.

In Our Time 16/1

STALL 9 | Form 91531 | RPR 138

J: Micah Husbands
T: Saffie Joseph Jr

A latest win and a figure only one pound below Bacio make her a serious ratings rival. Husbands must avoid being caught wide or forced into a costly early battle. The price is more generous than her raw figure suggests.

Comanche Brave 3/1

STALL 7 | Form 351711 | RPR 136

J: Billy Loughnane
T: Donnacha O'Brien

Two latest wins include the Flying Five, giving him a credible European sprint case. Loughnane must translate straight-course speed to this turning assignment. A major rival, though 3/1 offers little each-way attraction under the quoted terms.

Shisospicy 11/1

STALL 2 | Form 1011-7 | RPR 138

J: Luis Saez
T: Jose D'Angelo

The defending Turf Sprint winner brings proven championship quality. Latest seventh after a break creates a fitness and form question, but her high figure keeps her firmly involved. Stall two offers an economical route, making 11/1 an appealing each-way alternative.

Sorrento Sky 16/1

STALL 12 | Form 44311 | RPR 120

J: Umberto Rispoli
T: Phil D'Amato

Two consecutive wins, including the Green Flash, give him a legitimate route into the race. Rispoli faces a wide-draw decision, and the figure trails the leaders. More improvement is needed than the bare winning sequence might imply.

SATURDAY / 17:48 GMT

Miss Yechance 16/1

STALL 14 | Form 273111 | RPR 133

J: Jack Nicholls
T: Karl Burke

Three straight wins and the Abbaye success make her interesting despite the outermost stall. Nicholls must decide whether to press forward or seek cover. She is improving, but the turning track and likely ground ask different questions from Longchamp.

Possiblemente 20/1

J: Jose Ortiz
T: Joe Sharp

Won three of his last five displayed starts and brings a recent Kentucky Downs success. Ortiz can look for cover from the middle-to-outer gate. His figure needs improvement, but the winning sequence makes him a plausible outsider.

Time To Dazzle 25/1

J: Oisín Murphy
T: Mark Casse

Improved from a string of defeats to second and then first. Murphy has a workable middle berth. The figure gives her a place case, particularly if she can sit off the pace rather than becoming drawn into an early contest.

John The Beer Man 20/1

STALL 1 | Form 11317 | RPR 132

J: Kendrick Carmouche
T: Rob Atras

Three wins in five displayed starts show ability, though latest seventh tempers confidence. Carmouche can save ground from the rail if the break is clean. Traffic and a contested pace are the main tactical risks from that position.

Joe Shiesty 20/1

STALL 11 | Form 52211 | RPR 127

J: Fernando De La Cruz
T: Eric Foster

Two latest wins show good momentum. The concern is the combination of a lower figure and draw eleven against deeper opposition. De La Cruz must use his speed economically; a third straight win demands a career-best type of effort.

Yellow Card 25/1

STALL 6 | Form 56-121 | RPR 129

J: Flavien Prat
T: Michael McCarthy

First or second in all three starts since the break. Prat offers a tactical positive, and draw six is flexible. Needs a better measured performance, but there is scope for a favourable trip to carry him into the frame.

Roja 33/1

STALL 4 | Form 21-111 | RPR 133

J: Manuel Franco
T: Graham Motion

Three latest wins make her an improving outsider. Franco can seek position from stall four without an obvious wide-draw penalty. Her figure is respectable, and a further advance could make the market gap to the favourite look too large.

Starlust 33/1

J: Rossa Ryan
T: Ralph Beckett

The 2024 winner has established championship credentials, but recent results lack a win. Draw thirteen adds difficulty. Ryan needs cover and a clear late run; the case is a revival of old quality rather than compelling current dominance.

Big Mojo 20/1

J: Tom Marquand
T: Michael Appleby

Reserve. Latest third followed a win, suggesting a recovery from weaker earlier form. Has ability if admitted, but the actual starting position and available jockey must be checked. Not included among the initial fourteen.

No Nay Hudson 25/1

RESERVE 16 | Form 16-722 | RPR 126

J: Jose Ortiz
T: Wesley Ward

Reserve. Two latest seconds make him competitive at his recent level. Ward's experience is useful context, although admission and a higher performance are still required. Final field changes could alter both his trip and his prospects.

Doncho 25/1

RESERVE 17 | Form 01123 | RPR 130

J: Ricardo Santana Jr
T: Michelle Lovell

Reserve. Two wins earlier in the sequence followed by second and third show consistency. Needs a vacancy, then a carefully managed trip. His published figure is usable for an outsider, without establishing a leading chance.

Outfielder 25/1

RESERVE 18 | Form 11041 | RPR 126

J: David Egan
T: Wesley Ward

Reserve. Latest win restored momentum after fourth. A Ward-trained potential addition with some upside, but his starting position is unresolved. Recheck participation rather than assuming that a displayed ante-post price means he is guaranteed a run.

US tote favourite wins	7/19 (36.8%) 2007-25
Highest card RPRs	Forged Steel 135; Further Ado 132; Chunk Of Gold 132

The race in focus

Further Ado heads the market, but Forged Steel has the leading card figure and a latest win. Bracket Buster is a serious rival, while Chunk Of Gold's three consecutive seconds make him a natural place contender. Full Serrano brings past championship quality despite a less compelling recent sequence.

Pace, draw and the likely challenge

A turning mile can punish a horse that spends too much obtaining position. Further Ado can save ground from one, but must handle traffic. Forged Steel needs cover from nine; Chunk Of Gold starts more conveniently in four. Rebuild the assessment if a key speed runner is withdrawn.

The historical lens

ATR records all thirteen most recent winners finishing in the first two on their final prep. Eighteen of the nineteen champions had already won a graded stakes race. These patterns support current class and form, but do not turn an untested horse into an automatic exclusion. [10]

WIN

Forged Steel | 6/1

His leading figure and latest win make the 6/1 price attractive against shorter-priced rivals. The outer draw is the trade-off.

Chunk Of Gold | 9/1

Three consecutive seconds, a figure matching the favourite and draw four support the 9/1 placing case. He must finish more decisively to win.

Further Ado 5/2

J: Flavien Prat
T: Brad Cox

A latest second and a leading market position make Cox's runner an obvious contender. Prat can save ground from stall one, although room to manoeuvre is essential. His published figure is strong, with the turning mile still demanding a clean execution.

Forged Steel 6/1

STALL 9 | Form 11571 | RPR 135

J: Edwin Gonzalez
T: Saffie Joseph Jr

The highest published figure in the field and a latest win make 6/1 attractive. Gonzalez must manage draw nine around the turns. Our win choice if he can secure cover without sacrificing too much position in the opening stages.

Chunk Of Gold 9/1

J: Jaime Torres
T: Ethan West

Three consecutive seconds underline his reliability. The current figure matches Further Ado, while 9/1 is more appealing for an each-way approach. He needs to turn competitiveness into a finishing effort that can withstand a stronger field.

Bracket Buster 7/2

J: John Velazquez
T: Victoria Oliver

Two latest results of first and second give Oliver's runner a sound platform. Velazquez can work from the middle-to-outer gate. The published figure is competitive, making him a major rival, although his shorter price asks more of the case.

Owen Almighty 8/1

J: Luis Saez
T: Brian Lynch

First three in each of his last four displayed starts. Saez is a positive, but the wider stall and lower figure are concerns. Consistency keeps him in the place discussion; winning requires a stronger effort than his existing rating.

Coal Battle 9/1

J: Juan Vargas
T: Lonnie Briley

Latest third followed second, suggesting he remains competitive. His figure trails the top group, but the middle draw gives Vargas options. Better considered for a placing if the pace becomes demanding than as the strongest win proposition.

SATURDAY / 18:26 GMTDirt Mile - the runners

bet365 prices | Active runners in ascending odds order, then reserves and withdrawals. Part 2 of 2. [2, 3]

Full Serrano 10/1

J: Joel Rosario
T: John Sadler

The 2024 Dirt Mile winner brings proven divisional class. His recent sequence lacks a victory, which is the reason for caution. Rosario can look for an economical trip from three; a revival would put him closer than the price implies.

Lord Fons 16/1

J: Kazuo Yokoyama
T: Shogo Yasuda

A latest victory adds momentum to the Japanese challenge. His figure places him within reach of the principal contenders, though the new environment and turning dirt mile require adaptation. A credible outsider if he travels and settles well.

T Kraft 25/1

STALL 2 | Form 15421 | RPR 129

J: Junior Alvarado
T: Bill Mott

Improved from fourth to second to first across the latest three results. Alvarado has a useful low berth. Needs another step forward, but his recent progression makes him more interesting than an outsider arriving after a string of regressions.

Moonlight 25/1

J: Manuel Franco
T: Peter Miller

Recent form is uneven and latest seventh leaves a rebound required. Franco must find cover from eight. The current figure is below the main group, so a place would need both improvement and a race that unfolds favourably.

Iron Man Cal 25/1

STALL 11 | Form 54131 | RPR 124

J: Tyler Gaffalione
T: Phil D'Amato

Latest win restored momentum after a mixed sequence. Gaffalione faces the outermost draw in eleven, which could cost ground. Needs to improve on his figure and negotiate an efficient trip; an interesting improver rather than a proven leading chance.

Filly & Mare Turf

1m 3/16 turf | 3YO+ females | Grade 1 | $2m [1, 2]

Historical / current marker	Evidence
2025 winner	Gezora
US tote favourite wins	2/19 (10.5%) 2007-25
Highest card RPRs	Blue Bolt 138; Thought Process 136; Kathynmarissa 135

The race in focus

Blue Bolt's six consecutive wins and leading card figure make her the strongest win candidate. Precise has Moore aboard but a lower figure and a similarly awkward outside draw. Thought Process is only two pounds below Blue Bolt and looks particularly interesting at 16/1 from a more convenient middle position.

Pace, draw and the likely challenge

This year's nine-and-a-half furlongs is shorter than Del Mar's eleven, increasing the importance of position and acceleration. Blue Bolt must obtain cover from twelve; Thought Process can organise more easily from six. A slow early pace would make an over-wide trip especially difficult to repair.

The historical lens

ATR's 2007-25 US tote sample has only two winning favourites from nineteen. StableBet's separate 2016-25 count gives European-trained runners seven of ten wins. Neither statistic establishes value at today's price; this field's distance suitability and trip remain central. [10]

WIN

Blue Bolt | 7/4

She has the leading figure and the most compelling winning sequence. The wider draw and a very different international contest keep confidence measured.

EACH-WAY

Thought Process | 16/1

Her figure is second-best in the field, she has three wins in four starts since the break, and draw six is manageable. At 16/1 she is our strongest each-way interest.

All prices bet365 via Oddschecker, 28 October, 13:15-13:19 GMT. Quoted terms: 1/5 odds, 3 places. Selections are independent single-race views. Runner assessments follow. [3]

Blue Bolt 7/4

STALL 12 | Form 111111 | RPR 138

J: Colin Keane
T: Andrew Balding

Six consecutive wins and the leading published figure make her the most persuasive win candidate. Keane must solve draw twelve, with cover and settling both important. The main risk is a wide or over-eager trip in a tightly contested field.

Precise 3/1

J: Ryan Moore
T: Aidan O'Brien

Moore rides a filly whose latest second followed several competitive defeats. The published figure is below Blue Bolt's, and stall eleven complicates position. A respected contender, but the short price assumes she can improve on her recent level.

Kathynmarissa 8/1

J: Jose Ortiz
T: Chad Brown

Won three of four starts since the break and sits close to the leading group on figures. Ortiz and stall five give her a workable tactical setup. A serious rival who needs to maintain that level when the race quickens.

Lush Lips 10/1

STALL 13 | Form 11-122 | RPR 134

J: Tyler Gaffalione
T: Brendan Walsh

Two recent seconds show continued competitiveness after a winning sequence. Gaffalione faces a difficult wide berth, but she has enough ability to matter. Needs an efficient passage and a sharper finish to turn those placings into a championship win.

Classic Q 14/1

J: Javier Castellano
T: Mark Casse

Three wins in five displayed starts underline a productive period. Castellano has a useful low draw, and her figure is close to the best. A credible place contender if she settles and retains enough acceleration for the closing stages.

Gimme A Nother 16/1

STALL 1 | Form 21-111 | RPR 132

J: John Velazquez
T: Graham Motion

Three latest wins suggest a mare in excellent form. Velazquez can conserve ground from stall one, but must escape any pocket. Her figure leaves room to find, yet the winning sequence makes her difficult to dismiss at 16/1.

Thought Process 16/1

STALL 6 | Form 3-1121 | RPR 136

J: Manuel Franco
T: Phil D'Amato

Three wins in four starts since the break and the second-highest published figure make her appealing at 16/1. Franco can work from six. Our each-way choice: her measured ability is stronger than that price alone might suggest.

Jancis 16/1

STALL 8 | Form -15253 | RPR 132

J: Billy Lee
T: Willie McCreery

Has been competitive without a recent winning breakthrough. Lee can seek cover from the middle of the gate. Her figure puts a placing within reach, though she must improve on the latest third to beat the strongest runners here.

Red Letter 20/1

STALL 4 | Form -32363 | RPR 129

J: Dylan Browne McMonagle
T: Ger Lyons

Several placed efforts without a win make her consistent but frustrating. McMonagle has a helpful low-to-middle berth. Needs to improve her finishing effectiveness; saving ground matters, but it will not by itself reverse the gap to the principals.

Stellify 20/1

J: Flavien Prat
T: Brad Cox

Returned to winning form last time and has Prat aboard. Stall fourteen is the obvious complication: pressing forward or dropping in both carry a cost. Has a place case if she can reproduce her best without an expensive trip.

Eccentric 25/1

STALL 9 | Form 2-5321 | RPR -

J: Walter Rodriguez
T: Wesley Ward

Latest win is encouraging, but the card provides no RPR for a dependable figures comparison. Ward and Rodriguez must help her settle into the race. An uncertain proposition whose price should reflect the gaps in the available evidence.

Expensive Queen 25/1

STALL 10 | Form 4-1116 | RPR 132

J: Luis Saez
T: Brendan Walsh

Three wins preceded a latest sixth, so there is good form to recover. Saez must manage draw ten without losing too much ground. A plausible rebound candidate, but she needs to show that the last defeat was temporary.

Bless The Broken 33/1

J: Oisin Murphy
T: Brad Cox

Latest third followed a win, leaving a useful but mixed recent record. Murphy is an experienced international booking. Needs a new level to win, but a midfield draw allows a sensible trip if she settles behind the pace.

Evershed 50/1

STALL 2 | Form 28-313 | RPR 129

J: Mickael Barzalona
T: Arnaud Delacour

A latest third followed a win, offering a reasonable recent platform. Barzalona can seek cover from two. Has more to find on figures than several rivals, and needs a stronger finishing effort against this depth of opposition.

Vina Arana 66/1

RESERVE 15 | Form 53154 | RPR 131

J: Adam Beschizza
T: Jack Siston

Reserve, also appearing among the Mile reserves. Recent form is mixed and she needs a vacancy. Her final target must be confirmed before interpreting any price; the two listings do not represent two guaranteed starts.

Sprint

6f dirt | 3YO+ | Grade 1 | $2m [1, 2]

Historical / current marker	Evidence
2025 winner	Bentornato
US tote favourite wins	5/19 (26.3%) 2007-25
Highest card RPRs	Englishman 141; T O Elvis 138; Hymn 132

The race in focus

Englishman has the strongest established case after two major Grade 1 sprint wins, but stall thirteen makes odds-on uncomfortable. T O Elvis has a formidable winning sequence and is the closest ratings challenger. Built offers an improving alternative at a price, rather than matching the leading pair on current figures.

Pace, draw and the likely challenge

A wide favourite must decide how much early energy to spend before the bend. Englishman's ability is clear; an expensive trip is the risk. T O Elvis faces a similar issue from eleven. Built is more centrally positioned and would benefit if the principals press each other too hard.

The historical lens

Seventeen of the nineteen winners in ATR's sample finished first or second in their final prep; thirteen won it. Twelve champions were in the first three in the US betting. Longer-sprint form can help, since sustaining speed under pressure matters as much as the first furlong. [10]

WIN

Englishman | 4/5

His Grade 1 form and leading card figure make him the most likely winner. The 4/5 price and outermost draw argue against treating him as a certainty.

EACH-WAY

Built | 10/1

Two consecutive wins and draw seven create a plausible route to further improvement at 10/1. The figures deficit makes this a speculative placing selection.

All prices bet365 via Oddschecker, 28 October, 13:15-13:19 GMT. Quoted terms: 1/5 odds, 3 places. Selections are independent single-race views. Runner assessments follow. [3]

bet365 prices | Active runners in ascending odds order, then reserves and withdrawals. Part 1 of 2. [2, 3]

Englishman 4/5

STALL 13 | Form 1-1211 | RPR 141

J: Jose Ortiz

T: Cherie DeVaux

Woody Stephens and H Allen Jerkens wins support the leading published figure. Ortiz rides the strongest win candidate, but stall thirteen creates a real tactical cost. At odds-on, a wide trip or early duel would be particularly unwelcome.

T O Elvis 3/1

J: Ryusei Sakai

T: Daisuke Takayanagi

Five displayed wins either side of a break establish a formidable sequence. The main figures rival to Englishman, with Sakai aboard. Draw eleven needs managing, and 3/1 makes him a serious win threat rather than an appealing each-way selection.

Built 10/1

STALL 7 | Form 31211 | RPR 128

J: Luis Saez

T: Wayne Catalano

Two consecutive wins and a manageable middle stall make him our each-way alternative at 10/1. Saez can help secure position. The figure is below the top pair, so the case relies on further improvement rather than established superiority.

Listenupshance 14/1

STALL 5 | Form 23311 | RPR 130

J: Emisael Jaramillo

T: Doug O'Neill

Two latest wins suggest improvement, and Jaramillo has a manageable middle draw. Needs another sizeable advance against the principal pair. More interesting if he can track the pace economically than if forced into a prolonged early duel.

Dark Saffron 16/1

STALL 2 | Form 56621 | RPR 129

J: Connor Beasley

T: Ahmad bin Harmash

A latest victory followed second, suggesting a recovery after earlier defeats. Beasley rides from a low gate. Must prove the improvement transfers to this field and surface setting; current figures leave a clear gap to the strongest pair.

Nakatomi 16/1

J: Tyler Gaffalione

T: Wesley Ward

A latest victory offers a welcome recovery. Ward and Gaffalione know Keeneland well, giving him a credible practical case. His figure is below the leading pair, and he needs the race to develop in a way that preserves his finishing effort.

Hymn 20/1

STALL 4 | Form 11121 | RPR 132

J: Ricardo Santana Jr

T: Ron Moquett

Four wins and a second in five displayed starts make him consistently effective. Santana has a useful middle-to-low berth. The current figure leaves a gap, but the price allows more room for an outsider who can sustain his recent form.

SATURDAY / 19:42 GMT

Sprint - the runners

bet365 prices | Active runners in ascending odds order, then reserves and withdrawals. Part 2 of 2. [2, 3]

Stradale 25/1

STALL 12 | Form 26411 | RPR 120

J: Flavien Prat

T: Steve Asmussen

Two latest wins indicate a horse moving forward. Prat can judge the pace, but draw twelve and a lower published figure add difficulty. Needs a significant performance advance, making the attractive recent sequence only part of the assessment.

American Stage 33/1

J: Oisin Murphy

T: Yoshito Yahagi

A run of placings without a recent win leaves him needing improvement. Murphy must help the Japanese challenger adapt to a demanding six-furlong contest. His published figure trails badly; an efficient trip alone would not establish a winning chance.

Mad House 40/1

STALL 1 | Form 11543 | RPR 127

J: Paco Lopez

T: David Van Winkle

Recent results have moved from wins to fourth and third. The rail offers a ground-saving opportunity but little margin for a slow break. Needs a return to peak form and a higher performance to trouble the leading sprinters.

Liam Smith 33/1

STALL 3 | Form 11311 | RPR -

J: Manuel Franco

T: Peter Miller

Four wins in five displayed runs give him momentum. The card has no RPR, so the strength of that sequence cannot be compared reliably on this scale. A potentially improving outsider whose class level remains an important uncertainty.

Little Thunder 33/1

STALL 8 | Form 1-2112 | RPR -

J: John Velazquez

T: Tim Hamm

First or second in all four starts since the break. The missing RPR prevents a direct figure comparison, and this is a demanding class test. Velazquez's judgement is useful, but the winning record needs to stand up to stronger pressure.

Roll On Big Joe 40/1

STALL 10 | Form 11-122 | RPR 129

J: Julien Leparoux

T: Bob Hess Jr

Two recent seconds maintain a consistent sequence after three displayed wins. Leparoux faces an outer-half draw, with early position important. A place contender if he avoids a costly trip, though the leading figures require improvement.

Mile

1m turf | 3YO+ | Grade 1 | $2m [1, 2]

Historical / current marker	Evidence
2025 winner	Notable Speech
US tote favourite wins	9/19 (47.4%) 2007-25
Highest card RPRs	Notable Speech 140; Formidable Man 136; Deterministic 136

The race in focus

The defending champion Notable Speech leads the figures and arrives after two wins. Deterministic is a serious American challenger, with a strong recent sequence and the rail. True Love and Puerto Rico must justify shorter quotes than several rivals despite lower published figures and much wider draws.

Pace, draw and the likely challenge

The Mile rewards tactical speed: enough position to stay connected and enough acceleration to finish. Notable Speech has a workable middle draw. Deterministic can save ground but needs daylight, while the two O'Brien runners face the cost of crossing or waiting from outside.

The historical lens

Sixteen of ATR's nineteen winners had already won a Grade 1. Eleven arrived after a defeat, so a latest loss is not a reliable exclusion. Appleby and Buick won four of the last five editions, a strong shared record that reflects the quality of the horses involved. [10]

WIN

Notable Speech | 10/11

Proven championship ability, the best card figure and a positive recent sequence make him the strongest win selection, though 10/11 leaves little margin.

EACH-WAY

Deterministic | 8/1

Four displayed wins before his latest second, a strong figure and stall one support 8/1. He must avoid a pocket at the decisive moment.

All prices bet365 via Oddschecker, 28 October, 13:15-13:19 GMT. Quoted terms: 1/5 odds, 3 places. Selections are independent single-race views. Runner assessments follow. [3]

Mile - the runners

bet365 prices | Active runners in ascending odds order, then reserves and withdrawals. Part 1 of 2. [2, 3]

Notable Speech 10/11

STALL 8 | Form -41611 | RPR 140

J: William Buick
T: Charlie Appleby

Last year's Mile winner arrives after two consecutive wins and has the leading published figure. Buick can ride with confidence from stall eight. Our win choice, with the usual turning-mile risks of traffic and a race decided over a short acceleration.

Deterministic 8/1

STALL 1 | Form 1-1112 | RPR 136

J: Kendrick Carmouche
T: Miguel Clement

Four displayed wins before the latest second establish a strong current profile. Carmouche can save ground from stall one if he finds room when needed. At 8/1 he is our each-way choice against the short-priced defending champion.

Lake Forest 11/1

STALL 2 | Form 151722 | RPR 134

J: Cieren Fallon
T: William Haggas

Two latest seconds suggest he remains competitive. Fallon must help him obtain cover and conserve his acceleration around the bends. The figure is good enough for a place case, though he needs more to beat Notable Speech at his best.

Rhetorical 16/1

J: Jose Ortiz
T: Will Walden

Latest win followed fourth, suggesting a return to stronger form. Ortiz must obtain cover from nine. His figure is competitive for a place, and a clean run could make him more dangerous than the gap in market price suggests.

True Love 11/2

STALL 12 | Form 232561 | RPR 132

J: Wayne Lordan
T: Aidan O'Brien

A latest victory restores confidence after a run of defeats. Lordan must navigate draw twelve while keeping enough in reserve. Has ability and room to improve, but the shorter quote asks for a substantial step up on the displayed figure.

Puerto Rico 8/1

J: Ryan Moore
T: Aidan O'Brien

Moore's mount has a mixed recent record and the outside berth. His published figure is below several much bigger-priced rivals. The booking commands respect, but the win case needs a meaningful form revival and a particularly well-managed trip.

Ask Ikigomi 16/1

J: Ryusei Sakai
T: Hideaki Fujiwara

Two wins followed by second leave a lightly raced profile. Sakai has a reasonable middle-to-low berth. The Japanese challenger may improve, but his current figure is below the best; adaptation and progression are central to the case.

Facteur Cheval 33/1

STALL 3 | Form 73261 | RPR 128

J: Manuel Franco
T: Mark Casse

Latest win interrupts a mixed sequence. Now listed with Casse, he has an experienced partner in Franco and a useful low draw. Needs to reproduce and improve on that revival; the current figure is below the leading milers.

bet365 prices | Active runners in ascending odds order, then reserves and withdrawals. Part 2 of 2. [2, 3]

Zulu Kingdom 33/1

STALL 6 | Form 13135 | RPR 134

J: Flavien Prat
T: Chad Brown

Has remained competitive without winning his latest two starts. Prat and Brown are an appealing combination, with a flexible middle draw. Needs a stronger finishing effort, although the figure keeps him in the place discussion at a large price.

Qirat 33/1

J: Colin Keane
T: Ralph Beckett

A latest win restored momentum after several defeats. Keane has a useful middle position and can look for cover. His figure trails the leaders, making him a possible placing outsider if that improvement carries forward into this different setting.

Lugal 33/1

STALL 10 | Form 1-3280 | RPR 128

J: Oisin Murphy
T: Haruki Sugiyama

Latest results are less encouraging, with eighth and an unplaced finish after earlier placings. Murphy faces an outer-half berth. Needs a revival and a successful transfer to this turning mile, leaving more questions than several rivals.

Cabo Spirit 50/1

STALL 4 | Form 63241 | RPR 132

J: Mike Smith
T: George Papadromou

A latest victory gives him some momentum and Smith brings experience. Draw four is workable, but the broader record lacks consistency. An outsider who needs a favourable race shape and a stronger effort to upset the principal contenders.

Formidable Man 66/1

STALL 11 | Form 12-137 | RPR 136

J: John Velazquez
T: Michael McCarthy

His figure is joint second-best here, making 66/1 worth noticing. Recent seventh and third explain the caution, as does draw eleven. A speculative outsider who needs to recover his stronger level and secure an efficient trip.

Brilliant Berti 66/1

STALL 13 | Form 44134 | RPR 131

J: Brian Hernandez Jr
T: Cherie DeVaux

Recent thirds and fourths suggest a competitive level without a breakthrough. Hernandez faces a wide draw in thirteen. Needs both stronger form and an economical route; the large price compensates for difficulties without removing them.

Vina Arana 66/1

RESERVE 15 | Form 53154 | RPR 132

J: Adam Beschizza
T: Jack Siston

Reserve, also listed for the Filly & Mare Turf. Her participation and final target remain conditional. A different RPR is printed on this card, so figures are kept race-specific rather than treated as one universal rating.

US tote favourite wins	8/19 (42.1%) 2007-25
Highest card RPRs	Nitrogen 140; Splendor 139; Fully Subscribed 139

The race in focus

Nitrogen leads the card figures by one pound from Fully Subscribed and Splendor. The improving Fully Subscribed is a major danger after three wins. Splendor has developed a strong route record after last year's sprint championship success, making her a particularly interesting each-way alternative at 7/1.

Pace, draw and the likely challenge

The nine-runner field gives riders more room, but nine furlongs still punishes an unnecessary early battle. Nitrogen and Fully Subscribed have useful draws in two and four. Splendor must avoid being kept wide or spending too much to secure a prominent position from eight.

The historical lens

ATR's nineteen-edition sample has fifteen winners from the first three in the US betting. All nineteen had already won at least a Grade 2, with sixteen owning a Grade 1. Current class has been a stronger guide than the draw alone. [10]

WIN

Nitrogen | EVS

The leading figure, a latest victory and draw two make Nitrogen the most likely winner, with Fully Subscribed the immediate threat.

EACH-WAY

Splendor | 7/1

A figure almost level with the favourite and three recent graded route wins give substance to the 7/1 quote. Her early energy use is the main concern.

Nitrogen EVS

STALL 2 | Form 32121 | RPR 140

J: Jose Ortiz
T: Mark Casse

The leading published figure, a latest win and draw two make her the strongest win candidate. Ortiz can secure an economical trip. Proven high-level form supports the case, but even-money odds require a performance close to her best.

Fully Subscribed 11/4

STALL 4 | Form 22111 | RPR 139

J: Flavien Prat
T: Chad Brown

Three consecutive wins and a figure one pound below Nitrogen establish a serious threat. Prat can work from stall four. She is improving enough to challenge the favourite directly, although this stronger field asks more than a continuation of the streak.

Splendora 7/1

STALL 8 | Form 14111 | RPR 139

J: Tyler Gaffalione
T: Bob Baffert

Last year's Filly & Mare Sprint winner has won five of six this season, including three recent graded routes. Her figure is almost level with Nitrogen. Our each-way choice at 7/1, provided she avoids spending too much from stall eight.

Super Corredora 12/1

STALL 7 | Form 11-461 | RPR 132

J: Joel Rosario
T: John Sadler

Last year's Juvenile Fillies winner returned to winning form on the latest start. Rosario has an outer-half berth in a manageable nine-runner field. A credible revival candidate, though she must improve her current figure against established older rivals.

Regaled 14/1

STALL 3 | Form 24421 | RPR 130

J: Joseph Ramos
T: Whit Beckman

A latest victory restored momentum after a sequence of defeats. Ramos has a useful low-to-middle position. Her figure is below the principal three, so another step forward is necessary; a placing would be a more realistic first target.

The 2024 Juvenile Fillies winner has remained competitive but has not won in the displayed recent sequence. Alvarado can save ground from one. Needs a return to a stronger level, and room to deliver it against sharper current rivals.

Scottish Lassie 20/1

STALL 5 | Form 14-122 | RPR 131

J: Luis Saez
T: Jorge Abreu

Two recent seconds show consistent competitiveness. Saez has a reasonable middle draw, but the current figure leaves a clear gap to the leaders. Needs to find more late rather than simply hold her usual position near the frame.

Measure 25/1

STALL 6 | Form 62323 | RPR 126

J: Manuel Franco
T: Mark Casse

Recent placings show she can stay involved without winning. Franco must preserve her effort through nine furlongs. The lowest published figure in the field makes the task clear: she requires a substantial improvement to threaten the principal contenders.

Eunomia 33/1

STALL 9 | Form 31261 | RPR 132

J: Micah Husbands
T: Saffie Joseph Jr

A latest win provides momentum, but it followed an inconsistent sequence. Husbands faces the outside stall, and her figure trails the principal three. Needs an efficient route and a new high level to upset the stronger favourites.

US tote favourite wins	5/19 (26.3%) 2007-25
Highest card RPRs	Bay City Roller 139; Diamond Necklace 138; Ethical Diamond 136

The race in focus

Diamond Necklace brings Arc-third form and is a worthy favourite, but stall twelve and Moore's preference for Benvenuto Cellini complicate the picture. Bay City Roller has the leading card figure and a consistent sequence of placings. We take the larger price, while treating twelve-furlong effectiveness and the wide draw as real risks.

Pace, draw and the likely challenge

Over twelve furlongs, relaxation is essential. A slowly run race could become a positioning and acceleration contest; stronger pressure increases the stamina demand. Ethical Diamond can save ground from the rail, while Bay City Roller needs cover from thirteen. An expensive first turn could undo a strong form case.

The historical lens

European-trained runners won nine of the last ten editions in StableBet's count. ATR records eight consecutive winners arriving from a winning prep, yet the earlier record includes seven who were beaten beforehand. Do not mistake a recent pattern for a requirement every contender must satisfy. [10]

WIN

Bay City Roller | 9/1

The leading published figure and consistent recent results make 9/1 worth taking on our assessment. This is a price-led selection, with the draw a significant reservation.

EACH-WAY

Ethical Diamond | 14/1

The defending champion has an inside draw and proven championship ability. At 14/1 he is appealing if he can recover last year's level and obtain room late.

All prices bet365 via Oddschecker, 28 October, 13:15-13:19 GMT. Quoted terms: 1/5 odds, 3 places. Selections are independent single-race views. Runner assessments follow. [3]

Turf - the runners

bet365 prices | Active runners in ascending odds order, then reserves and withdrawals. Part 1 of 2. [2, 3]

Diamond Necklace 7/4

STALL 12 | Form -11123 | RPR 138

J: Christophe Soumillon
T: Aidan O'Brien

Third in the Arc supplies serious form and the second-highest published figure reinforces it. Soumillon must manage stall twelve, while Moore chooses the stablemate. The class is persuasive; the price requires her trip to work out.

Benvenuto Cellini 5/1

STALL 2 | Form 1V1359 | RPR 135

J: Ryan Moore
T: Aidan O'Brien

The Irish Derby winner has Moore aboard and a favourable low draw. Latest ninth leaves a rebound required, with sharper starting work reported by the stable. A major contender if he settles and returns to his strongest staying form.

Bay City Roller 9/1

J: Oisin Murphy
T: George Scott

First three in all six displayed starts, with the leading published figure, makes 9/1 an attractive win case. Murphy faces a difficult wide berth, and twelve-furlong effectiveness must be sustained. Our selection, with the draw the chief reservation.

Tiffany 10/1

STALL 10 | Form 2-2211 | RPR 134

J: Luke Morris
T: Sir Mark Prescott

Two consecutive wins provide momentum and Morris knows how to judge a staying effort. Draw ten creates a cover decision. A legitimate contender if the race rewards sustained stamina, though she must lift her existing figure to win.

Hotazhell 12/1

STALL 7 | Form 0-3311 | RPR 135

J: Shane Foley
T: Jessica Harrington

Two latest wins make him a runner arriving with momentum. Foley has a useful middle draw. His figure gives him a credible place case, with the remaining question whether that improvement continues against the strongest international stayers.

Johanna Walsh 12/1

STALL 9 | Form -31216 | RPR 135

J: Mickael Barzalona
T: Joseph O'Brien

A latest sixth interrupted a useful winning and placed sequence. Barzalona must find cover from nine. Her figure keeps her involved for a placing, but she needs a rebound and enough stamina to finish the race strongly.

Ethical Diamond 14/1

STALL 1 | Form 1-5912 | RPR 136

J: Dylan Browne McMonagle
T: Willie Mullins

Last year's Turf winner has a useful rail draw, but recent second followed mixed results. McMonagle must obtain room while conserving ground. At 14/1, proven championship ability makes him our each-way alternative if he returns to that level.

Burnham Square 16/1

STALL 6 | Form 11117 | RPR 132

J: Brian Hernandez Jr
T: Ian Wilkes

Four consecutive wins preceded the latest seventh, so there is strong form to recover. Hernandez can seek cover from six. The question is whether he can return to that winning level under deeper opposition and a demanding twelve-furlong test.

SATURDAY / 21:36 GMTTurf - the runners

bet365 prices | Active runners in ascending odds order, then reserves and withdrawals. Part 2 of 2. [2, 3]

Minaret Station 20/1

STALL 3 | Form 42321 | RPR 135

J: Jose Ortiz
T: Will Walden

Latest win suggests improvement and Ortiz can seek an economical passage from three. His figure is competitive without leading the field. An interesting outsider if further progress coincides with a race run to suit his finishing strengths.

Far Bridge 20/1

STALL 4 | Form 164-12 | RPR 134

J: John Velazquez
T: Miguel Clement

First and second in the two starts since the break show a positive return. Velazquez has a useful inside-to-middle berth. Needs more than the current figure, but is well placed to avoid the ground loss threatening wider rivals.

El Cordobes 20/1

STALL 5 | Form 133-53 | RPR 132

J: William Buick
T: Charlie Appleby

Latest third improved on fifth, without quite restoring a winning sequence. Buick rides from a workable low-to-middle position. Needs a stronger finishing performance; his current figure puts several rivals ahead despite the stable's excellent international record.

Test Score 20/1

STALL 8 | Form 18261 | RPR 134

J: Manuel Franco
T: Graham Motion

A latest win followed mixed results, leaving him a potential improver rather than a dependable repeat performer. Franco can seek a midfield position. Needs to build on that victory and maintain his effort through a genuinely competitive staying contest.

Survie 20/1

J: Flavien Prat
T: George Boughey

Two wins preceded a latest unplaced finish, leaving a revival required. Prat adds tactical expertise, but stall eleven risks a wide passage. Her best could make her competitive; the recent defeat prevents a stronger endorsement.

Deep Monster 40/1

STALL 14 | Form 10-134 | RPR 135

J: Tom Marquand
T: Yasutoshi Ikee

Recent fourth followed third, leaving a competitive Japanese challenger without a latest win. Marquand must organise the outside draw carefully. His figure is close enough for a place, but ground loss could be especially expensive over this trip.

Map Of Stars 16/1

RESERVE 15 | Form 7-3512 | RPR 132

J: James Doyle
T: Francis-Henri Graffard

Reserve. Latest second followed a win, giving him a credible recent platform. Needs a vacancy and a confirmed starting position. Doyle is provisionally listed; reassess his participation and the revised pace before considering a bet.

Telescopic 66/1

RESERVE 16 | Form 42211 | RPR 115

J: Luis Saez
T: Victoria Oliver

Reserve. Two latest wins suggest improvement, but the published figure remains a long way below this field. Admission alone would not resolve the class gap. Needs a major new level to be more than a speculative outsider.

SATURDAY / 22:16 GMT

Classic

1m 1/4 dirt | 3YO+ | Grade 1 | $7m [1, 2]

Historical / current marker	Evidence
2025 winner	Forever Young
US tote favourite wins	5/19 (26.3%) 2007-25
Highest card RPRs	Sovereignty 144; Forever Young 142; Magnitude 139

The race in focus

Forever Young returns as champion after winning the Jockey Club Gold Cup. Sovereignty's Whitney victory and superior card figure make him our choice, but his missed prep after a foot abscess is material. Knightsbridge and Golden Tempo add depth; Magnitude has the class to rebound if his latest sixth proves temporary.

Pace, draw and the likely challenge

Ten furlongs requires control as well as stamina. Test both a moderate early gallop and a more contested version before betting: Sovereignty and Golden Tempo would not want the race to become a short sprint for home. Eight runners lessen traffic without guaranteeing the ideal pace.

The historical lens

Thirteen of ATR's nineteen winners were in the first three in the US betting, and all nineteen placed in their final prep. Magnitude therefore opposes that last-start pattern. Only Tiznow has won the Classic twice, in 2000-01; that history is not a reason by itself to oppose Forever Young. [10]

WIN

Sovereignty | 5/2

His best ten-furlong form and leading figure make 5/2 persuasive. This selection is conditional on normal participation and no adverse late fitness report.

EACH-WAY

Magnitude | 13/2

Dubai World Cup and Stephen Foster wins establish genuine class. At 13/2 he can place if back to his best, but the latest sixth makes the bet less secure.

All prices bet365 via Oddschecker, 28 October, 13:15-13:19 GMT. Quoted terms: 1/5 odds, 3 places. Selections are independent single-race views. Runner assessments follow. [3]

SATURDAY / 22:16 GMT

Classic - the runners

bet365 prices | Active runners in ascending odds order, then reserves and withdrawals. Part 1 of 1. [2, 3]

Forever Young 9/4

STALL 5 | Form 11-121 | RPR 142

J: Ryusei Sakai
T: Yoshito Yahagi

The defending champion won the Jockey Club Gold Cup and remains a formidable international dirt performer. Sakai knows him well and draw five is workable. A deserving favourite whose main challenge is defeating Sovereignty at that rival's best.

Knightsbridge 9/2

J: Luis Saez
T: Bill Mott

The Pacific Classic winner arrives after two wins and gives Mott a powerful second contender. Saez rides from seven. A major rival with proven class, though 9/2 is less appealing for each-way purposes at one-fifth odds.

Golden Tempo 9/1

J: Jose Ortiz
T: Cherie DeVaux

This year's Derby and Belmont winner brings proven ten-furlong stamina and a strong late run. Ortiz must judge the pace without leaving too much to do. A serious alternative if the leaders weaken, with a higher figure needed against older champions.

Napoleon Solo 16/1

J: John Velazquez
T: Chad Summers

Two recent seconds suggest he remains competitive without quite finishing races off. Velazquez has the outside stall in a small field. His figure leaves room to improve, but a well-judged trip could bring him into the place discussion.

Sovereignty 5/2

J: Junior Alvarado
T: Bill Mott

The 2025 Derby, Belmont and Travers winner returned to form in the Whitney. His leading figure and proven ten-furlong class support our win choice. The missed prep after a foot abscess makes current fitness the important unresolved risk.

Magnitude 13/2

STALL 6 | Form 1-1116 | RPR 139

J: Flavien Prat
T: Steve Asmussen

Dubai World Cup and Stephen Foster victories prove his class. Latest sixth is the concern, although his figure keeps him close to the leaders. Our each-way choice at 13/2 if Prat can help him return to his strongest level.

The Puma 16/1

STALL 4 | Form 12441 | RPR 128

J: Javier Castellano
T: Gustavo Delgado

A Pennsylvania Derby win after blinkers were added gives him a positive recent change. Castellano can work from stall four. Needs to build substantially on the current figure, but the improved latest result is a better starting point than a defeat.

T O Password 33/1

STALL 1 | Form 6-0213 | RPR 117

J: Kazushi Kimura
T: Daisuke Takayanagi

Fifth in the 2024 Kentucky Derby gives him some American dirt experience. Recent third followed a win and second, but the figure trails this field. The rail can save ground; Kimura still needs a major advance to challenge the principals.

Interpreting differing published statistics

Favourite records can differ by time window, US tote versus UK price and the treatment of withdrawn or joint favourites. This guide consistently labels ATR's US tote sample on race pages. It does not combine that return series with bet365 odds or claim the selections have a measured expected profit.

THE FINAL WORD

Our top four for the meeting

A focused shortlist from the full guide. Prices are the same bet365 snapshot used in the runner sections and selection sheet.

01 / FRIDAY 19:35 / WINEmphatic 9/4

Proven over the Alcibiades course and distance, unbeaten in the displayed three-start sequence and highest on the card figures. She answers the route question more convincingly than Miss Monica.

Main risk: The outside half of the draw must be negotiated efficiently.

02 / FRIDAY 21:35 / WINFolsom Blues 3/1

The leading card figure and a dependable run of firsts and seconds give him a persuasive case against a shorter-priced favourite drawn widest. We prefer the 3/1 quote on our assessment.

Main risk: Draw ten still needs cover; the O'Brien team is a powerful challenge.

03 / SATURDAY 19:04 / EACH-WAYThought Process 16/1

The second-highest figure in the field, three wins in four starts since the break and a manageable stall six make 16/1 the most appealing each-way proposition on our shortlist.

Main risk: She must reproduce that level against international opposition over the specific nine-and-a-half-furlong trip.

04 / SATURDAY 22:16 / WINSovereignty 5/2

His best ten-furlong form, Whitney victory and leading card figure make him our Classic choice. At 5/2 he is a viable alternative to defending champion Forever Young.

Main risk: The foot abscess and missed prep leave a fitness risk. Recheck late reports and normal participation.

Thought Process: 1/5 odds, 3 places at the captured 16/1 quote. A £5 each-way example costs £10 and returns £21 if placed without winning, or £106 if winning, before any deductions. Examples explain settlement, not a recommended stake. 18+; bet responsibly.
